Would you buy a Harley not made in Milwaukee?

Company threatening to pull manufacturing out of Wisconsin to save money on labor

By DINESH RAMDE

MILWAUKEE — It's the roar that made Milwaukee famous — the distinctive throaty rumble of a Harley-Davidson motorcycle. But that much-loved racket could be rumbling away to another state if the company cannot bring down its labor costs.

Harley-Davidson warned employees in April that it will move its Wisconsin manufacturing operations elsewhere if it cannot cut millions of dollars at the factories that build the bikes known as "Milwaukee Iron."

Harley's corporate headquarters would remain here; but that's small consolation to a community that has already endured repeated blows to its civic identity.

"When you think of Milwaukee you think of beer, brats and Harley-Davidson," said Steve Daily, a researcher at the Milwaukee County Historical Society. "Right or wrong, that's what it is."

But that's been changing. For example, the corporate parent of beer giant Miller parent moved its U.S. headquarters to Chicago in 2008 after joining its domestic operations with Molson Coors Brewing Co. Then there was Schlitz, which billed itself as "the beer that made Milwaukee famous" until financial and labor problems forced it to sell out to a Detroit company in the 1980s.

That leaves Harley-Davidson Inc. as the city's lone signature brand. It's also a magnet for tourists, many of whom want to visit the factories where Harley engines are made.

"We get asked frequently where the plants are," said Paul Upchurch, the president of the VISIT Milwaukee tourism bureau. "A lot of people around the world associate Milwaukee with the home of Harley."

Harley chief executive Keith Wandell said the company will make its decision on whether to move in the next two months. Harley executives are already scouting out other states, though Wandell will not say which ones.

The company, he said, would also be open to incentives to keep the 1,630 manufacturing jobs in Wisconsin. But the idea that it could move production elsewhere stuns many Harley loyalists.

"You can't describe it. They've just become the blood of the community," said Tom Steepy, a lifelong rider and the director of the suburban Milwaukee chapter of the Harley Owners Group, or HOG. "If they moved their manufacturing, it would just LURE HARLEY-DAVIDSON TO JACKSONVILLE?

Harley-Davidson's management has warned its employees it may leave Milwaukee if it can't reduce its labor costs.

That got us to wondering: Why not move Harley's manufacturing to Jacksonville? We doubt the vintage American brand will leave Milwaukee, but if it does, could this area compete to be a logical target for relocation?

The First Coast has attracted many new jobs over the last decade, but not so many high-paying manufacturing jobs — why not?

Tell us what you think: What does the First Coast have going for it and against it in the competition to attract manufacturing and premier enterprises such as Harley-Davidson? Should attracting such manufacturing jobs be a priority?

Send responses to business@jacksonville.com or call (904) 359-4699 and leave your response, along with your name. We will ask local economic development officials and others how well the First Coast is positioned to attract manufacturing and publish the results next week.

Area hotels' outlook on St. Louis' convention potential.

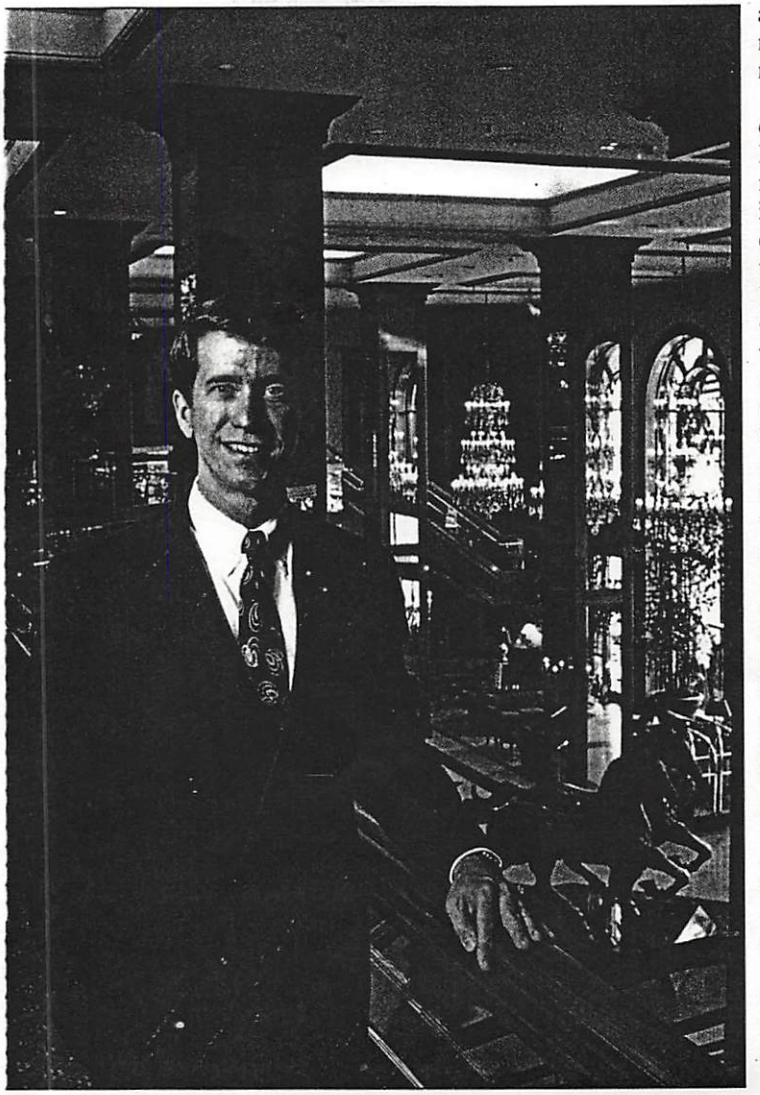
While the recent expansion of Cervantes Convention Center, the introduction of MetroLink, and TWA's choosing St. Louis as its headquarters are all pluses for St. Louis' convention potential, a real impact will not be seen for a few years since large conventions are usually planned years in advance. But area hotels are already excited about the future.

Paul Upchurch, general manager of the Adam's Mark Hotel, says, "One thing that's very important for all of us who are a part of the community is to realize how important tourism is to St. Louis, tourism being business travel, tourism being leisure travel, tourism being group and convention business. This city is really on the verge of becoming a tremendous convention destination and that has a lot of impact on the continued economic vitality of the city. It's a major industry of the city.

"A lot of the business we get from conventions is relatively consistent from year to year, it ranges from 60 to 65 percent of our rooms business. So obviously it is an important part of our business. We're of the size that we can attract the group business," Upchurch comments.

General Manager Paul Upchurch on the second floor of the Adam's Mark Hotel lobby.

Tom Ebenhoh



Sherry McCool, general manager of the Marriott Pavillion, reports 50 percent of its business is due to conventions, although this number fluctuates. McCool says, "The CVC (St. Louis Convention and Visitors Commission) staff, particularly in 1994, has been doing a great job of producing leads and booking business so we could start to see some shifting of that or we could see the total number of room nights increasing, but transient demand may be increasing proportionally. But we're not projecting to see any immediate change in that number."

Denise Whaley, regional sales manager for Drury Inns Inc., says the number of rooms rented at its Union Station location for conventions has been low for the last two or three years, but has increased this year, and believes that the increase will be pretty dramatic in 1995 and 1996.

Whaley attributes the projected increase to the expanded convention center. "I look at that domed stadium, not as a stadium, but strictly as an expansion to the convention center. There have been many, many conventions that we've never been able to even bid on because we didn't have the meeting space for it, let alone the hotel space, but now we will certainly have that. We won't just have meeting space, but we'll have state-of-the-art, really nice space. I'm looking forward to it being completed," says Whaley.

Besides the expanded convention center, MetroLink should increase St. Louis' convention business.

Whaley adds, "Once MetroLink is up and running through to the airport, I feel it will definitely help the downtown market. It will help conventions, it will help ease the cost. Right now we generally pay a rebate to help subsidize the transportation (shuttle service). In other words, the hotels have to subsidize the cost of getting convention folks from one hotel to the next hotel down to the convention center. MetroLink will help get the folks moving."

McCool comments, "For what we call first-tier cities–the Chicagos, the New Yorks, the Atlantas, the L.A.s–for many of those an easy transportation system is a requirement, an expectation. Not to have it is a deficiency. What MetroLink has done, is it has let us be competitive with Chicago, Washington D.C. and New York because they all have very accessible mass transit systems that are able to move their customers, their participants, throughout the city."

McCool adds, "Most other major convention cities don't have gaming available as an attraction. For St. Louis to have a first class gaming facility would give us a real competitive advantage."

McCool summed up St. Louis' convention potential in a baseball game style. "We have the potential to be a major competitor as a first tier convention city. We've just got to keep getting up to bat and just stay focused on hitting the ball. The home runs...they'll come!" ■

Adam's Mark owners aspire to put their hotel at the top

Melissa S. Monroe

Picking a hotel in downtown San Antonio can be a tedious task since there is an array to choose from, but one more just popped up on the scene claiming to be the cream of the crop.

What was once the National Bancshares Corp. building at the corner of Soledad and Pecan streets has now been taken over by the Adam's Mark Hotels & Resorts chain. The San Antonio hotel opened its doors for the first time to the public on Aug. 21.

Paul Upchurch, general manager of the Alamo City hotel, says that the company has always wanted to be in San Antonio's hospitality market since the tourism industry has done well in South Texas.

"We looked and looked and when we found the building ... the opportunity presented itself to us ... it was the right kind of occasion," Upchurch says.

Upchurch says that since the hotels' opening, people have been visiting the 87-year-old renovated building to peek into suites that were once occupied by NBC offices. The renovation caps the end of a seven-year period that began when NBC filed Chapter 11 reorganization and its local operations were taken over by the Federal Deposit Insurance Corp. The bank bailout agency commissioned a study of the property that determined the best use of the building would be a commercial hotel. The FDIC sold the asbestos-laden property to B.J. "Red" McCombs and partner Gary Woods in 1993, however, it remained vacant. In 1995, McCombs and Woods sold the property to Adam's Mark, which undertook the 18-month long renovation.

Premier facilities

The San Antonio hotel is just one out of the 18-hotel chain that's operated by the HBE Corp., based in St. Louis, Mo. Cost of the project to renovate the former NBC building carried a hefty price tag of $50

Subject: Lead in gasoline ± 10 PPM
Sulfur in fuel oil ± 200 PPM

The Model 720 Analyzer uses X-rays from an Americium^{241} source to nondestructively measure lead in gasoline. Analysis time is 60 seconds or less and with a detection limit of 0.01 gm of lead per gallon of gasoline.

An analysis is made by weighing 25 gm of gasoline on a built-in balance and inserting the sample between the X-ray source and detector. The readout is digital, which with the use of a calibration curve may be read in either grams of lead per liter or grams of lead per gallon.

The Analyzer may be used to determine the percent of sulfur in fuel oil by the same method as lead in gasoline. The detection limit for sulfur in fuel oil is 0.02%.

The Model 720 Analyzer weighs 14 pounds and is completely portable with built-in balance for weighing the sample and built-in power supply to operate the instrument. The Analyzer also operates off 110 volt line and has a built-in charger to recharge the battery pack.

The Model 720 Analyzer is an excellent portable screening tool to analyze the amount of lead in gasoline and/or sulfur in fuel oil.

Price and specification sheets are enclosed for your evaluation. Our representative will be happy to demonstrate the Model 720 Analyzer in your laboratory. Please contact us or our representative if we can be of further help.

Sincerely,

Paul Upchurch } In AF

Dear Mr Upchurch

Cousin Doris Upchurch of Corpus Christi tells me she has sent you a copy of the flyer on our upcoming Texas Rep. Another copy and some details on the Upchurch Bulletin are enclosed.

It would be nice to see you at one of the stops along the way.

I will be glad to check my files on how you fit with the family and send you a report if you will fill out the enclosed Chart as best you can and send it to me. Your response would be very helpful to me.

All Best Wishes.

Sincerely Yours
Phil Upchurch

Dear Doug,

Please accept my thanks for the information you gave me over the phone on April 15, 1981 about your Upchurch line. I have search my files and have not been able to locate your great-grand father. However, all of the names you gave me have been cross-referenced and we are able to get your full line in due course.

You could help me a great deal by completing, in part or partial, the enclosed Family Chart and returning it to me. If you know of others who could be interested please let me know. I would especially like the address of your Aunt Beatrice (Upchurch) Manson.

An order blank on the Upchurch Bulletin is enclosed. I hope you will become a subscriber.

I enjoyed meeting you by phone and hope that you will be able to provide additional information on the Upchurches.

Sincerely yours
Phil Upchurch

Dear Doug,

On 15 MAR 1981 I talked to you over the phone about the Upchurch family. You gave me some details but at that time I was not able to establish your full line. Just then mom & I have found out your line all the way back to Michael U.I. the original immigrant who came to VA in 1647. I will be glad to send you a sketch of your ancestors.

Some descriptive explanations on the Upchurch Bulletins which I mentioned to publish are enclosed.

Now that your line is established I am anxious to fill in the details. Could you give me the following:

1) For yourself
   a) when and where born?
   b) when and where married?
   c) The full maiden name of your wife and when and where was she born?
   d) The full names of your children, if any, and their birth date and place?
2) For your wife MALINDA MARIE U
   a) Is she known she cannot spell?
   b) when and where was she born?
   c) Is she still single?

3) For your father - Vernon Hall
   a) when and where born?
   b) when and where married the 1st & 2nd times?
   c) what was the full maiden name of his 1st wife (Alma —) and when and where was she born? were there any children of this marriage?
   d) when and where was VALORA ELAINE COLE born?

4) For your Aunt Christine
   a) Does she have any children and grandchildren and if so what are their names?

You will probably not be able to answer all of the above but any information you can supply will be appreciated.

Sincerely yours
Phil Yadusky

Dear Mr Upchurch,

I recently encountered your name and address and am writing to see if we can figure out how your Upchurch line fits into the overall Upchurch Family. As you can see from the enclosed flyer I publish the UPCHURCH BULLETIN to which I hope you will subscribe.

In any event I would really appreciate it if you would complete, insofar as possible, the enclosed Family Chart and return it to me. I will then search my extensive files and let you know what I find.

Also enclosed is an address form in case you know of other subscribers with whom I should correspond.

Please let me hear from you soon.

Sincerely yours,

Dear Paul,

On January 15, 1980 I was in Washington, DC and gave you a call to get information about Upchurches. You gave me a number of facts. Since that time I have continued to work on the Upchurch family tree and have assembled much material. Hopefully I have not yet identified the father of Odie Nelo Upchurch. The information we need to turn up in due course. To help me along could you please complete, insofar as possible the enclosed family chart and return it to me

Since I like to you I have started publishing Upchurch Bulletin which is now in its 2nd year. An order blank is enclosed in case you want to subscribe

Sincerely yours
Paul Upchurch

Cairo Hotel Getting Complete Overhaul

By Charles A. Krause
Washington Post Staff Writer

By Douglas Chevalier—The Washington Post

The Cairo Hotel: Once described as "atrociously ornate."

They called the Cairo Hotel "Schneider's Folly" when it opened in 1894. Because it was gauche, because it was tall and because nobody much liked the daring young entrepreneur, Thomas Franklin Schneider, who designed and built it to his own (admittedly unusual) tastes.

The Cairo was unlike anything Washington had seen—or has seen since. Architectural Record called the hotel's East India exterior "an architectural aberration." The Cairo's interior was once described as "atrociously ornate."

While critics were embarrased by Schneider's garish design, proper Washingtonians were positively outraged by the Cairo's height. At 156 feet, the hotel — located east of Dupont Circle at 1615 Q St. NW — was (and remains) the capital city's tallest privately owned building. There was such a public outcry when the Cairo was built that Congress passed a law limiting the height of all but federal buildings here to 130 feet.

Ugly perhaps, controversial to be sure, the Cairo nevertheless attracted the city's wealthiest and most important people. Vice President James S. Sherman lived there at the turn of the century, as did Thomas Alva Edison.

The best parties were held in the hotel's ornate ballroom and the Cairo's garden restaurant offered high quality food and drink as well as a spectacular view of Washington, "a view," according to one of Schneider's brochures, "of which the patriotic American never tires."

The view, of course, changed over the decades as the city grew and prospered. The Cairo still offered its roof as a unique vantage point from which to see the city's sights, but the hotel lost its luster over the years.

By 1972, when the Inland Steel Development Corp. announced it had bought and would renovate the old hotel, the Cairo had become a seedy, run-down place filled with prostitutes, dope addicts and elderly retirees who lived there because it was cheap.

"It really was the most horrible place," Paul H. Upchurch, Inland's Washington-area vice president, said the other day, recalling what the Cairo was like when Inland took it over. "It would have taken the reporter from the National Enquirer at least two months to sift through the garbage."

Cairo Hotel Getting Complete Overhaul By Its New Owner

CAIRO, From B1

When Inland bought the Cairo, the company thought it would take about two years and about $2.8 million to transform the old hotel into a sparkling and exciting new apartment building.

The original plan, masterfully drawn by Washington architect Arthur Cotton Moore, called for a complete overhaul of the building's interior, rearranging spaces to reflect modern needs. At the same time, Moore was careful to retain the Cairo's oriental, East Indian exterior to preserve the hotel's flavor and architectural value.

The plan is well on its way to completion now, but a year behind schedule and $450,000 over budget.

Upchurch said much of the 80-year-old hotel's structural steel had to be replaced because of its age. Then, because of an unusual design, 40 per cent of the Cairo's floor system fell through and had to be replaced.

Finally, the general contractor hired by Inland for the Cairo project had financial problems and work stopped for three months earlier this year, Upchurch said.

"It took nine months to build the Cairo and almost three years to renovate it," the Inland vice president said.

Upchurch said that he now expects the Cairo to be finished and ready for occupancy by the end of the year. It is expected to add to the attractiveness of the area that is now undergoing a renaissance without losing its racial, economic or social mix.

"I think it will be a delightful building. It's going to be unusual," Upchurch said. "Whoever rents on the top floor will be able to say they live higher than anyone in Washington."

Rents will also be higher than originally anticipated by Inland three years ago when it announced the Cairo would be designed to house middle-income tenants.

The 44 efficiency units, which are spacious and often have spectacular views, will rent for about $220 a month, $50 a month more than originally projected. The building's eight duplex apartments will go for about $500 a month instead of the $360 a month that was originally announced. Altogether, the Cairo will have 170 units.

Exposed brick walls are a feature of all of the apartments, from the smallest to the largest. The duplex units on the basement and street levels front a common courtyard and each will have its own fenced-in court at the rear.

Moore, who designed Canal Square in Georgetown, has worked with the old building as much as possible. Even though the old hotel's interior was virtually gutted, all of the apartments have interesting spaces—none has square or rectangular rooms.

While some other renovation projects in the city have met resistance from tenants and neighborhood groups, few complained when Inland closed the Cairo three years'

Eugene Langan, renovation manager, checks an interior brick wall of the kind apartments will feature.

Susan Meehan, a neighborhood activist who lives in a restored townhouse on the 1700 block Corcoran Street about two blocks from the Cairo, said the new apartment house will create additional parking problems in the area and will probably "jack up rents in the neighborhood."

Despite these problems, she said, "I'm glad they're going ahead because what was there before was such a drag on the neighborhood. We don't have the wall-to-wall drunks like we used to or the dope addicts."

Business people along 17th Street NW are even more enthusiastic about the Cairo renovation. "I think it will definitely help the neighborhood business-wise," said Shirley Garfinkle, manager of Bay Ribbon Cleaners at 1613 17ht St. NW.

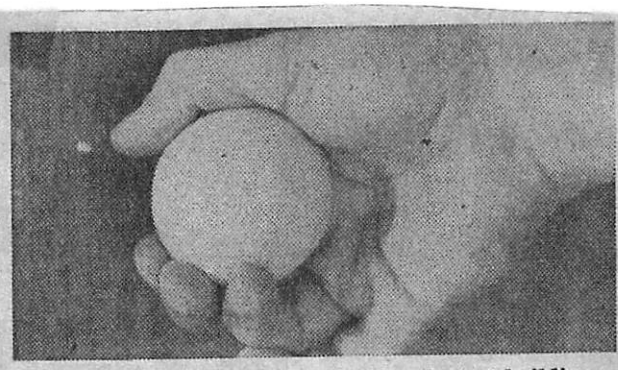
Apartments facing the front in the newly renovated Cairo hotel will have curved corners and windows.



Marble doorknob was installed in original building.

"It will generally uplift the whole neighborhood," said William H. Fisher, who has owned the Cairo Liquor Store at 17th and Corcoran for 20 years. "At the end, it was just a low-priced whorehouse and dope house."

Those days are clearly over.

The Cairo will soon be a high-priced apartment house, one that appears to be on the way to success from amost every point of view. An old, historic building will have been saved, a crime-infested block will have been made safer and a neighborhood will have been further rejuvenated.

Schneider called his Cairo "the most thoroughly equipped establishment of its nature south of New York City." Arthur Cotton Moore and Inland Steel are bringing it back to life.

Hi Brenda---
Here is the Upchurch heritage of Paul James Upchurch starting with his Clan Head John Upchurch, III:

I. John Upchurch, III
A. Samuel Upchurch
1. David Upchurch
a. John Forrester (Foster) Upchurch
i. John W. Upchurch
(I). Orrin Thomas Upchurch
(A). James Thomas Upchurch
(1). Thomas James Upchurch
(a). Paul James Upchurch

Since we only recently figured out this line there could be some refinements but this basic outline looks solid to me. As I understand it the DNA results for Paul show a connection to me and to Dr Tom Upchurch--Interesting

I am new to this and so would like to understand the organization better.

Interestingly, I was in Upchurch England last week. Quite a small place.

My grandparents lived in Ohio and Chicago. Trying to see how far back we go.

Do you have a contact number?

Thx. Paul.

Hi Paul---
Yes---This is the right person-- If you focus on the name Orwin Upchurch. However, there is much confusion about the middle name being shown as James. I find several other versions for the middle name and also fond the middle and first names reversed in some cases .This is not unusual in compiling family history records from different sources. With considerable study and comparing a variety of sources you can eventually come up with a coherent story. I am almost through with your Line in case you are interested. The OH records were a key and there turned out to be more Upchurches in OH in the 1910-1940 era than I remembered. This is no doubt due to job availability which brought Upchurches from other locales.

Hi Paul---

Since we last talked I have had an eye operation. Now after two weeks on the sidelines I am back in action.

I need to refile the items I pulled out to study your line. The earlier generations fell into place nicely. But I need help on the recent generations. I show you grandfather as Orrin Thomas Upchurch . Clarification is needed on your grandfather which I show as James Thomas Upchurch and also as Thomas James Upchurch. It seems both names are likewise used for your father as well. Can you clarify? Have I missed a generation? Also, it would be helpful to have the full maiden name of you mother..

Hope to hear from you. Thanks~

Hi Paul---

Thanks for the inputs.

Had a tooth extracted on Tuesday--more slowdown.

I have processed your line the old fashioned way and have six extract sheets which our webmaster Jay Buck will scan and email to you Monday. Note that for John W. Upchurch Item 1 was on hand in 1981 and Item 2 in 1998. The mark of a triangle shows a copy of the sheet has been placed in the Biofile of the person so marked.

We are moving to get all of these records online.

I am pleased to have your heritage properly recorded. You can learn more from the instructions I sent earlier.

We do hope you will lend your support to our Upchurch work for which a form is attached.

Sending all Best Wishes~

Phil Upchurch, Founder Allied Families.

Dear cousin Paul

Thanks for the renewal on U B Vol 5. Your XID Number is 5602 (See U B APR 1982 Vol 3 No 3 - Pg 54). I have looked through my stacks of marked and unmarked papers and cannot find information you sent in. It is always possible that I misplaced it - but I try to give special attention to the Nathan I / Gilbert U Subclan to which you belong since it is my own. If you still have a copy please resend. So your GF and I are 2nd cousins, you and my grandchildren are 4th cousins, while you and I are 2nd cousins twice removed.

When I was growing up one of my Uncles told me about his Uncle Nathaniel Smith U (my great Uncle, your GGGF) who left home (Wake Co, NC) ~~[illegible]~~ in 1858 to go to ~~[illegible]~~ Florida and was not heard from for 20 years. Subsequently there was a lot of trappin back and forth. I am anxious to learn more about what we always called the "Florida Updunches" and sometime within the next couple of years I hope to spend a day or so in Florida getting acquainted.

Perhaps I could start with some easy questions and we could gradually get information for my records. Could you help with the following:

1) For yourself
   a) what does "N" stand for?
   b) when and where born, when and where married
   c) Full maiden name of wife and when & where born
   d) Full names of your children and their birth date and place?
   e) Any grandchildren?
2) For your brother - John Jones U III
   a) when and where born?
   b) Name of spouse, if any.?
   c) Name of children if any?
3) Were you and John Jones U III the only children of John Jones U III

4) For John Jones U III (your father)
   a) when and where born?
   b) when and where died & where buried?
   c) when and where married?
   d) Full maiden name of spouse and her birth date and place?

5) For John Jones U II (your GF)
   a) He was b 8 MAY 1892 — where?
   b) He died 5 OCT 1926 — where? + where buried?
   c) when and where married?
   d) Full maiden name of Clara Epperson and when & where born? Is she still living?

Any help at all on the above will be appreciated.

I have some wonderful letters from your great uncle Frank Drew U, Sr. He wrote of visits to my grandfather farm in Wake Co, NC in 1916 and gave me some insight re my gf.

Hope to hear from you soon

Sincerely yours
Phil Upchurch

Re: Upchurch Bulletin

Dear Robert:

My home address in Ormond Beach, Florida is correctly cited in your letter to me dated January 24, 1986, and I am at a loss as to why an issue of the Bulletin addressed to my home was returned by the Post Office. Please try to send it through again.

Thank you.

PAUL SAMUEL U (1-1) XID-17285

① Paul Samuel U b ca 1842 is son of William L. U, gr s of Samuel U & ggr s of John U III, Head of Clan (29, Pg 218). For 1860 census - Benton, Franklin Co, IL Paul Samuel U was in the home of his ~~and sister~~ Mary E. (U) Spain. There is some confusion over whether XID-17285 was named Paul Samuel U or just Paul U or just Samuel U (or perhaps Samuel Paul U) - This grew out of the 1850 census in which Paul Samuel U & his ~~sister~~ Mary E. U were living in ~~the~~ home of ~~their~~ maternal GF (or perhaps their Maternal Uncle — Edward Moberly. Two census Versions: Franklin Co, ~~IL~~
