Knott, Cohen speak vows

Katherine Julianne Cohen and Gray Smithwick Knott, both of Knightdale, were united in marriage on Saturday, June 8, at the WRAL Garden in Raleigh. The Rev. Jeff Bell performed the double-ring ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Benson Cohen of Irvine, Calif. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Riley Knott of Wendell.

Vows were spoken before a white arch and gates, decorated with bouquets of white carnations and magnolia greenery with white satin bows.

As a prelude to the wedding ceremony Mrs. John James Parish, pianist, provided a program of wedding music consisting of "If Thou Art Near" by Bach, "Trumpet Tune" by Purcell, "Edelweiss" by Rogers, "Air From Water Music" by Handel, "Clair De Lune" by Debussy, "Because" by D'Hardelet, "Andante from the Sonata in C" by Mozart, "Sweet Dreams, Op. 39" by Tschaikovsky, "Adieu to the Piano" by Beethoven and "Theme from the Second Movement of the Fifth Symphony" by Tschaikovsky.

The mothers entered on the playing of "Jesu, Joy of Man's Desiring" by Bach.

The "Bridal Chorus" from "Lohengrin" by Wagner was played as the processional.

Given in marriage by her parents, the bride wore a Victorian-style floor-length gown of white venise lace, which featured full, puffed sleeves, a tiered skirt, a high neck, and was embellished with white satin ribbons on the sleeves and bodice.

The bride wore a floral wreath headpiece of white baby's breath and pink sweetheart roses attached to a double-tiered veil of white illusion. She carried a cascade arrangement of pink roses, baby's breath and stephanotis with Boston fern.

The bridegroom wore a white dinner jacket and black trousers. A white pleated shirt with black bow tie and cummerbund, and a pink rose boutonniere completed his outfit.

The bride was attended by Michele Russell of Oakhurst, Calif., sister of the bride, as matron of honor. Bridesmaids were Jenny Graves of Washington, D.C., Beth Baker of Burlington, Vt., and Missy Insley of Wilmington.

They each wore a floor-length dress of pink organza covered with tiers of embroidered white lace, with spaghetti straps on the shoulders and a pink chiffon sash with a pink silk rose attached.

The honor attendant wore a wreath of pink phlox and heather entwined with lace. She carried a nosegay of pink and white miniature carnations, white daisies, white snowdrift and baby's breath with pink lace ribbons. The bridesmaids carried nosegays of pink and burgundy carnations, yellow daisies, lavender daisies, purple statice and baby's breath with pink lace ribbon.

Sierra Russell, niece of the bride, was flower girl. She wore a floor-length dress of pink and white. She sprinkled white flower petals from a white wicker basket tied with a pink ribbon.

The bridegroom's father served as best man. Ushers were Lonnie Knott of Wendell, uncle of the bridegroom; Kent Russell of Oakhurst, Calif., brother-in-law of the bride; and Junnie Sadler of Raleigh. They wore white dinner jackets with black trousers. Pleated white shirts, pink bow ties and cummerbunds with pink carnation boutonnieres completed their ensemble.

The mother of the bride selected a floor-length gown of lavender silk organza. The puffed-sleeved gown was accented with an embroidered lace bodice, trimmed with opalescent sequins, and the waist had a sash of lavender silk organza. She wore a wrist corsage of two white cymbidium orchids.

The mother of the bridegroom selected a floor-length gown of pale turquoise crepe featuring a full-length accordion-pleated skirt with matching turquoise georgette sash and a deep accordion-pleated bertha of matching turquoise georgette accented with a fluted edge. She wore a white cattiya orchid.

Each mother was presented a silk long-stem rose at the close of the ceremony.

The wedding was directed by Stacy Smith of Greensboro.

The bride is attending UNC-Charlotte and is employed at UNICOPY as an electronic technician.

The bridegroom is a graduate of Western Carolina University and is employed at UNICOPY as the computer systems controller.

Reception

Immediately following the ceremony, the guests were entertained at a reception at the Mission Valley Inn. Hosts were the brides' parents.

The tables were decorated with arrangements of yellow and lavender fugi poms, burgundy and lavender variegated carnations, white daisies and purple statice with white candles. The buffet table was covered with a white cloth.

Mirrored trays of fresh strawberries, mixed fruit and melon slices, watermelon baskets filled with melon balls, wheels of cheese with baskets of cocktail breads and crackers, slices of baked ham, turkey breast adorned with cherry tomatoes and fresh pineapple, and a tray of fresh vegetables with dip lined the buffet table. There were heated trays of petite quiche lorraine, baked mushrooms stuffed with crab meat, a cart of round of beef au jus, and baskets of rolls and breads. Fruit punch and champagne punch were also served.

The bride and bridegroom opened the festivities by dancing the first waltz. Guests joined in dancing to the music of a beach music band.

The bride's table featured a three-tiered wedding cake of French chocolate with almond paste, raspberry filling and white buttercream icing. The cake was garnished with pink roses and topped with a china miniature bride and bridegroom, with a crystal heart surrounded by white lace and decorated with pink and white roses. Miss Smith served the guests after the bridal couple had cut the traditional first slice of the wedding cake.

Rehearsal Dinner

After the rehearsal at Wendell Christian Church, the wedding party and their guests were entertained at a dinner at The Meeting Place in Wendell.

The head table was decorated with a mirror and crystal vase of pink and mauve carnations, wine miniature carnations, alstroemeria lilies, baby's breath and white daisies.

Matching centerpieces were used on the adjoining tables and were placed on mirrors. Volite candles were placed around the centerpieces.

The bride was presented with a corsage of alstroemeria lilies. The bridegroom had a white carnation boutonniere.

The 29 guests were served prime rib au jus, stuffed baked potato, garden salad, French bread loaves, meringues with vanilla ice cream and fresh strawberries, and iced tea and coffee.

The bridegroom chose this time to remember his attendants with gifts.

Hosts were the bridegroom's parents along with Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Knott; Mr. and Mrs. William Zebulon legal eagle Wilbur M. Jolly has soared to successful heights in his profession and in person. So much so, the owner of a Louisburg law firm was recently hailed for his longtime community leadership during a ceremony last month at Franklin County District Court.

"I'm very pleased and honored that the Franklin County Bar would bestow this honor upon me," Jolly said of the appreciative act unveiling a portrait which will be permanently displayed at the courthouse after renovations are completed.

Wilbur Jolly's 'life is a testimony of service to his community, his church and friends.'

— Michael Jolly

Framing the career of the man rather than just the face, however, began in 1941 when the Ayden native graduated from Wake Forest University. His starting pay at his first job was $125 a month, but he has stayed in the business for 58 years and counting. In 1961, he even formed a partnership. Then his cousin, Ben Williamson (the current dean of the Franklin County Bar Association), joined the team in 1971.

Jolly has acted as attorney for the town of Louisburg, the Department of Social Services, and the Water and Sewer Authority. But he hasn't always been stuck in his office with clients.

As a viable asset to the community, he served as a Louisburg commissioner along with three terms in the N.C. Senate, and one in the House of Representatives. He was also commander of the Louisburg American Legion post and president of the Louisburg Shrine Club. Jolly also served in the military.

A clerk of the Superior Court for 38 years, Ralph S. Knott has been a longtime personal friend of Jolly's. He said Jolly is someone that he could always count on. "Jolly is known for taking a personal interest in his friends," Knott added. "I have the utmost admiration for him. I can't count the number of times that I've called on him for his opinion."

Knott said they both attend Louisburg Baptist Church where Jolly has held every position of the church. "That impressed me," Knott said. "He's made a difference in our lives and our community."

He said Jolly is upfront about his opinion, always giving sound judgment. Jolly also sets standards for other young lawyers to follow.

Robert H. Hobgood recalled that as a law school senior in 1963, he asked Jolly to loan him a formal jacket for his senior portrait. Of course, Jolly let him borrow the jacket.

"If you look closely at the senior portraits for the 1963-64 year, you'll see that every boy was wearing Mr. Jolly's tuxedo jacket," Hobgood said.

Jolly and his wife, Justine, live in Stallings Crossings. Jolly has two grown children. His son, Michael King Jolly, said the most important lesson he has learned from his father is service to his fellow man.

"His whole life is history and a testimony of service to his community, his church and his friends," Michael Jolly said, adding he learned the importance of kindness and compassion from his father.

At age 83, Wilbur Jolly continues enthusiastically practicing law. "I'm the first one in the office every morning," he added. "And I hope I can keep doing it."
