M^cAdden U is the best rendition possible for what appears in census record but spelling is garbled - This is a white, male son age 17 in home of parents Nathan U III (XID-92) & Martha U. - Checking with 1870 census reveals a Nathan U age 7 - who was in the home of Nathan U III. Hence it appears that "M^cAdden" U = XID-3030 = Nathan U IV, whom see —

○ RPA update on the "CAD" name in the Upchurch Family - 3 JUL 2013

The use of the nickname "CAD" for Nathan U, III, "CAD U, I"; Charles Clark U "CAD II"; and Charles Henry U "CAD III" remains as shown on the attached sheet dated 25 MAR 2004. They were Father, son, and Grandson. Many records reflect only the name "CAD" as if this was their actual personal, birth name which it was not.

However it now surfaces on the 1880 Census that a son of Nathan U, III (namely Nathan U, IV) was listed as Mcadden Upchurch age 17. [Note:
that on the 1870 Census this son, then age 7,
was referred to as Nathan U (hence Nathan U, IV)]

It seems reasonable to assume that the family had a reason to attach the name Mcadden to their son Nathan U b 1863 (RPA designation: Nathan U, IV) but we do not know what the reason was.
Possibly Nathan U, III or his wife Martha A. Pope had a Mcadden surname (or first name?) in their heritage.

A quick Ancestry.com search brought no good results. In future researches one needs to consider variant spellings such as: McADDEN, McCADDEN, McADEN, McCADEN; Mac---; etc, etc.

Note that children of Nathan U, III had 2 given names - so CAD U, I could have been NATHAN Mcadden U.

Hi Megan---

Delighted you found my website www.upchurchstory.com where the password is "2013upchurch#. I hope there you also were able to watch some of the videos.

I do not find you in my system and would very much like to know how you fit in the Upchurch family. If you will give me a couple of names that link you back to earlie generations I will search my records and give you a report. It is important that you know which of the 22 Upchurch Clans is yours as that way you can focus on aspects that are of the most importance to you.

Further, I would like to invite you to our other website www.alliedfamilies.com where we are trying to do family history in a more powerful way. I think you will be pleased.

Looking forward to hearing from you.

Thanks for reaching out, Phil.

My father is James Michael Upchurch.

His father - James Virgil Upchurch

His father - William Herschel Upchurch

and I followed the outline on your website which looks like we came from the Richard III clan - however, if this is inaccurate, please let me know. Also, if you need birth dates, marriages, etc. I can provide as much as I have from talking to my dad and grandpa (who passed away in 2013).

I originally started this journey to become a member of the DAR - and I am truly enjoying discovering my history and ancestry. Thanks so much for your contribution!

Hi Megan---

Yes you are of the Richard U.,III Clan and of the Richard U.,III/Claburn U.,I Subclan. Your input has stimulated me to upgrade your part of the family and I am in the midst of doing that. Your input was very helpful.

I find only three Upchurches buried in the Lubbock cemetery--your grand parents and Charles Reginol U. 1918-2013. Can you tell me how this Charles Regnol U. fits in? There is much we can exchange after I finish my upgrade. In the meantime please let me know if you have questions.

Best~

md (?) Pamela — Raburn

It appears from this obituary that Pamela had a son by the name of David Michael Raburn before she married John Michael U. If so it must have been out of wedlock as the mother of Pamela is styled RABURN - hence she must have nee Pamela Raburn. Whether her daughter Megan Leigh Poole (wife of Milan Poole) is nee Megan Leigh U or nee Raburn is not clear.

side by side { Martha A. U b 12 NOV 1832, d 23 MAR 1915
Carell U (or Garell - footstone shows G U) b 30 SEP 1856, d 30 SEP 1882 } both hard to read

② Review of ① above by RPU 30 DEC 2000

The Martha A. U in ① above is an excellent fit to have been nee MARTHA A. POPE who on 8 JAN 1855 (Wake Co, NC) mtd Nathan U, III. The person b 30 SEP 1856 buried beside her is as yet unidentified. This person is of the right age to have been the first child of Nathan U, III & wife Martha. They did in fact have a child b about 1856 named Malissa U who appears with her parents on the 1860 census as age 4 but not in their home on the 1870 & 1880 census. Note that the spelling on the stone "CARELL?" and "MELISSA" are not very similar but a closer inspection of the stone might be in order. CROSSFILE: MARTHA A. U, MARTHA A. Melissa U

As of 7 SEP 2000 there are no available dated or other information for the above and names. They are presumed to have been found in Wayne Co, KY. Will assume that Catherine U is the same as the Catherine U in the home of John H. U on the 1860 Census. He heads the John H. U. line in the George W. Mosey U subclan.

John H. U is not found on the 1870 KY Census and perhaps had moved to Ala, MO by that time.

Melissa U is not found on the 1860 or 1880 Census for KY - presume she may have been born after 1860 and either died, married or moved before the 1880 Census. It would be nice to know her age. She is most likely of the George W. Mosey U subclan

Gearlean leaves behind her husband of 44 years, Kemper Oze Upchurch Sr.; son Kemper Oze Upchurch Jr., and wife Sabrina Dawn of Summerfield; daughter, Patricia Ann Rice and husband Michael of McLeansville; daughter Melissa Irene Stanley, and husband Buddy of McLeansville; brother Bruce Jacobs and wife Brenda of Pembroke; brother Vinson Jacobs and wife Betty-Jo of Pembroke; brother Harold Jacobs and wife Edna of Pembroke; brother Mitchell Jacobs of Pembroke; brother Hilton Jacobs of Pembroke; and six grandchildren, William Brandon Upchurch, Christopher Michael Rice, Ashley Shane Upchurch, Daniel Wayne Rice, Sierra Raye Stanley and Dylan Locklear Rice; two step grandchildren, Ashley Stanley and Heather Stanley; and all the children at Kids Galore Childcare Center who knew her as "Maw-Maw".

There will be a celebration of life service held at 6 p.m. today at Jubilee Holiness Church.

MR MELZAR J. UPCHURCH
318 AVON DRIVE
RALEIGH, NC 27608

Dear Mr Upchurch

Perhaps you are aware that I publish a quarterly bulletin on the Upchurch family. Information on the bulletin is enclosed. Your nephew Donald Paul Upchurch, Sr has just sent me quite a bit of information about some members of our family and he suggested I write to you for some missing details on your line.

If you could provide answers to any of the following I would be most grateful.

- 1) For Franklin Pierce U (your father)
 - a) where was he married?
- 2) For Etta Barker (your mother)
 - a) what was her full maiden name?
 - b) where was she born?
 - c) where did she die?
- 3) For yourself
 - a) when in 1902 born?
 - b) where born?
 - c) were your brothers and sisters all born where you were?
 - d) when in 1924 were you married and where?
 - e) Full maiden name of Agnes Brett?
 - f) where was Agnes Brett born?

4) For your son Edward Franklin

- a) when in 1927 born?
- b) where born?
- c) when in 1944 married?
- d) where married?
- e) Full maiden name of Patricia O'Neil.
- f) Are any of their children named? - If so names of spouse and offspring?

5) For your daughter Judith Ann Lynch

- a) when in 1930 born?
- b) where born?
- c) when in 1950 married?
- d) where married?
- e) Are any of her children named? If so names of spouse and offspring?

If you don't have all of the above, any part will be helpful.

If you are interested I'll be glad to send you a brief sketch of your line and mine showing how we are related. I was born and raised in Wake County. I passed through Durham last month and stopped by to see Edna Belle West. She is frail but OK. When I got back to Tucson I called her daughter in Washington to let her know Edna was OK.

Hope to hear from you.

Sincerely yours
 Phil Lynch

Dear Cousin Merle,

Thanks for the additional information on Elsie (Rogers) Upchurch. I am very grateful for the help you have given in helping to complete the records on the former David Upchurch, I line. There is quite a bit of interest on this part of the family.

I am enclosing a copy of the Master Outline for the Calver Oyster Upchurch Family for your information. In case there are changes in this part of the family or in case you learn other interesting details about the family I would appreciate having the information enclosed in an envelope which you can stick in a corner somewhere until it is needed.

With much appreciation,

Sincerely yours
Phil Upchurch

Dear Cousin Merle,

When we returned from Europe on JUN 8, 1959 your letter written in early MAY was waiting. I have now finished processing it and six others that came from descendants of James David U, I. It is amazing the progress we have made and
I appreciate what you have done to help.

The master outline for James David U, I and his children is enclosed along with two pages of questions on what is still missing. I am sure someone will have answers to some of these questions.

I now have a perfect set of details on the descendants of Calvin Orest U thanks to your input.
For Calvin & his first wife we have everything except her death date. We now know he and Ed Nettie Goddard and that she is buried in Bokoshe, OK.
Other details on her are missing.

In the future I hope you will inform me of any changes in the Calvin Orest U Family. Let me know if you have any questions.

Sincerely yours
Phil Upchurch

Farm-Built Flotation Sprayer

Building a sprayer starts with plotting your objectives. As a no-till farmer, Merrill Upchurch of Dahlgren, Ill., needed flotation so he could spray early, even when fields are a little wet, without creating compaction.

With 13 miles to his farthest field, he wanted speedy road travel. A front-mounted boom and an air-cushioned ride would reduce fatigue.

Upchurch achieved his goals by starting with components from a Deere 7700 combine, which he bought at auction for $2,500. He replaced the combine's original hydrostatic drive with two planetary final drives from an 8820 combine—one on either rear wheel. Each has its own pump and hydraulic motor.

Front tires are 18.4x26, and rear tires are 30.5x32 radials. Upchurch runs dual rear wheels for early pre-plant broadcast spraying and single 18.4x38 wheels for postemergence work in corn or beans. After the spraying season, he switches the rear tires to his combine.

The engine is mounted on the rear of the frame. "At 14,000 lb., the sprayer is heavier than I wanted, but the weight is over the rear wheels where I need it," says Upchurch.

"It creates less compaction than I got using a tractor and saddle tanks."

Framed. A 3"x6"x1/4" box steel frame carries the sprayer components. The frame narrows toward the front to create a shorter turning radius.

Upchurch bought a used 60' boom, which he converted to hydraulic fold.

"We had been running a 60' boom on a tractor at 10 mph, so we knew what it took to get the volume and pressure we needed," Upchurch says.

The boom is mounted on parallel linkage raised and lowered by the cylinder that originally lifted the combine head. Stabilizing wheels are from an old cultivator. Four accumulators on the boom act as shock absorbers. To reduce weight, Upchurch used a 550-gal. tank.

Air bags with automatic levelers—one for each rear tire and one in the front—cushion the ride.

The cab was salvaged from a Deere 6500 high-clearance sprayer. It provides all-around visibility. A Raven C440 spray controller is mounted on the steering pedestal. Switches for the foam marker and boom hydraulics are located below it.

The guts of it. "We use 3/4" hose and separate bypass and agitation lines," Upchurch says. "The agitation line can be shut off when not needed for agitation, to increase boom pressure."

"This year, we made a change. We were not getting enough pressure from our original pump to run more than 12 mph, so we added a second, higher-pressure pump to supply just the boom," he says.

The system is plumbed to recircu-late solution through the boom. "Every night, we flush the boom by hooking up a garden hose and running fresh water through the hoses and into the tank," he explains.

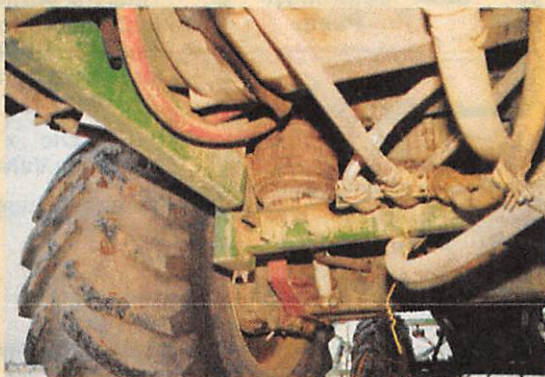

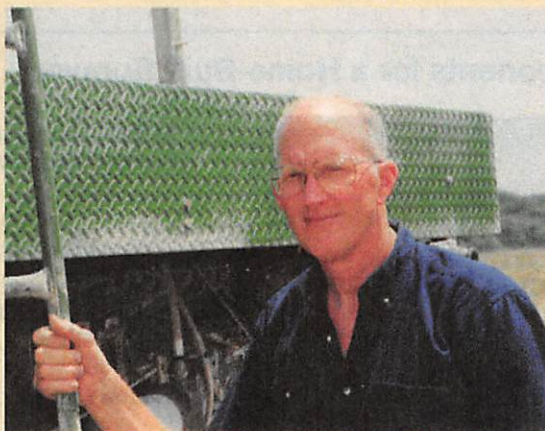

Upchurch made a pressurized foam marker tank from an old fuel filter casing designed for military vehicles. Since it is made of aluminum, he never has to worry about the marker tank rusting and at $50, the price was right.

On the run. The 15-gal. tank requires no depressurizing before filling. A 25-gal. plastic tank holds solution, and an electric pump refills the foam marker tank as the sprayer runs.

Total cost of the sprayer was in the neighborhood of $12,000. "After several revisions, it's difficult to sort out all the costs," Upchurch says.

"It gets the job done easier, and the faster road speed lets us fill at the shop rather than having to haul a nurse tank to the field," he says.

Farmer Merrill Upchurch (top, left) used an air bag for each rear wheel (left) and two for the front axle, to smooth out bumps and reduce operator fatigue.

Tailor Your Sprayer

The fluid-delivery system deserves special attention when designing your sprayer

By Dan Anderson

In the world of farm shop creations, planning and building a sprayer system is no small accomplishment. A well-thought-out plan prior to building makes all the difference.

Merrill Upchurch, whose flotation sprayer is shown at right and featured on page 36, has been through the drill. The time spent planning the project is money saved, he says. "These kinds of projects require a lot of thought and shop time. It probably is impossible to get it right the first time, and changes cost more time and money. To minimize changes, a lot of thought is required before you start building."

A sign of success is a well-planned fluid-delivery system. "Farmers who build their own sprayers spend a lot of time figuring out how to build fancy folding booms and the spray cart," says Jerrad Popp, ag specialist, Spraying Systems Company, makers of Tee-Jet. "But it's as important to make sure the solution-delivery system is sized and plumbed right."

The basic components of a solution-delivery system are the tank, the pump, a manual or automatic control device, a flow or pressure sensor, spray nozzles and assorted hoses and valves to connect all the pieces. These components must be sized and placed correctly to make the sprayer work.

Farmers often try to cut costs by using pumps, valves and hoses from old sprayers. The results are often less than satisfactory.

"If you want a bigger sprayer, you'll probably have to reconfigure everything," says Popp. "A bigger boom needs a bigger tank, or you'll be refilling constantly. A bigger boom also means more nozzles, larger hose, more valves and a bigger pump."

Built from combine components, Merrill Upchurch's sprayer features an air-cushioned ride, flotation on wet fields and road speeds of 35 mph. A rear engine puts the weight over the back wheels for traction.

To determine the necessary pump capacity in gallons per minute (gpm), multiply the maximum application rate (in gallons per acre) by maximum groundspeed (mph), by nozzle spacing on the boom, by the number of nozzles, then divide by the constant 5,940.

That initial flow rate calculation must then be increased to compensate for pressure drop throughout the system. Pressure drop is the loss of pressure and flow due to the resistance of hoses and fittings to flowing liquids—similar to friction between parts.

How it happens. "Charts in spray supply catalogs show pressure drops for various components," says Popp. "For example, if you use 1/2" hose to supply a boom, and the flow rate to the boom is 6 gpm, you'll lose 4 psi [pounds per square inch] for every 10' of 1/2" hose in the boom."

"Hose fittings and valves all contribute to pressure drops," he says. "Be cautious about using 90° elbows. They cause the greatest pressure drop. Whenever possible, use a loop in a hose to turn a corner rather than a 90° elbow."

Plan on adding at least 2.5%, and as much as 5%, to pump capacity to compensate for the pressure drop. See "Size-Wise Math" sidebar for a pump-sizing example.

Some sprayer designers try to maximize pump performance by minimizing pressure drop. While large-diameter hoses offer less resistance than smaller hoses, bigger is not necessarily better.

The reduction in pressure

Size-Wise Math

After deciding on sprayer size and component specifications, be sure the pump is the correct size to do the job.

For example, a sprayer with a 60' boom with nozzles at 20" spacing would require 37 nozzles. With a maximum ground speed of 10 mph and a maximum application rate of 20 gal. per acre (gpa), the calculation would be:

$$\frac{20 \text{ gpa} \times 10 \text{ mph} \times 20'' \text{ spacing} \times 37 \text{ nozzles}}{5,940 \text{ (constant)}} = 24.9 \text{ gal. per minute}$$

Multiplying the initial calculated pump capacity of 24.9 gal. per minute (gpm) by 5% (to compensate for pressure drop) yields 1.25 gpm. Add that compensation factor to the initial pump capacity calculation to arrive at the minimum capacity for a pump mounted on a sprayer with these design specifications.

$$24.9 \text{ gpm} + 1.25 \text{ gpm} = 26.15 \text{ gpm minimum rated pump capacity}$$ drop may be offset by the sheer weight of extra fluids in larger hoses.

"It's a balancing act, trying to get the least pressure drop across a boom while keeping down the weight of the liquid in the hoses out on the booms," says Popp. "With the 60' booms that are common now, $\frac{3}{4}$ " hose seems to be the best compromise."

Once pump capacity has been calculated, an appropriate pump can be selected. The trend in farmer-operated sprayers is toward hydraulically driven centrifugal pumps.

"Centrifugal pumps are reliable, and hydraulic drives allow farmers to throttle back their tractors and control pump speed with their tractor hydraulics," says Popp. "PTO-driven pumps require that you keep the tractor revved up to PTO speed all the time."

Pieces, parts. Valves and other components have evolved to meet farmers' demands for durability and reliability. Electric ball valves are rapidly displacing older-style solenoid "plunger" valves on agricultural sprayers. Solenoid valves cost less, but are prone to stick, and often require annual rebuilding or replacement.

Electric ball valves cost a bit more than solenoid valves, but rarely require rebuilding during their average life span of five years.

Flowmeters, filters, and pressure regulators also must be sized and mounted correctly.

Flowmeters should be installed according to manufacturers' instructions, usually in a vertical position, with at least 6" of straight hose immediately before and after the flowmeter to minimize turbulence at the flowmeter.

Filters, strainers and pressure regulators are frequently installed with 90° elbows at inlet and outlet to make mounting easy and tidy. Remember 90° elbows increase pressure drop and may require larger spray pumps to compensate.

Perhaps the biggest problem many farmers encounter when building their own sprayer is plumbing the sprayer. Beyond the challenge of routing hoses so they don't get pinched during folding or field operation, there is the puzzle of bypass and agitation lines.

Separate. "Agitation and bypass should be separate lines," says Mark Killian, Sprayer Specialties, Grimes, Iowa. "Bypass lines need an unrestricted flow from the pressure side of the pump back to the tank to allow rate control."

This is necessary because computerized spray controllers manage flow to the booms via a regulating valve in the bypass line. The valve varies the amount of solution bypassed to the tank, which increases or decreases the amount of solution available to the booms. Restriction in the bypass line can diminish the controller's ability to manage chemical flow to the booms.

Agitation lines, on the other hand, have restrictions as part of their design, making them incompatible with any bypass line.

"Agitation is a line back to the tank where a restriction, a venturi, creates turbulence to keep chemicals in the tank mixed," says Killian. "If you're using a computerized spray controller, and [you] plumb bypass and agitation in the same line, you'll have trouble."

Nozzle selection should be the final step in constructing a new sprayer. Nozzle spacing, flow rate, spraying speed and type of chemical determine nozzle size required.

"I'd suggest buying your chemicals before you purchase nozzles," says Popp. "Your chemical rep can help you select the right nozzle for the chemicals you're using, then it's just a matter of picking the right size based on spacing and the other factors."

Many of the new low-drift nozzles require relatively high pressure. Boom pressures of 80 psi to 100 psi may be necessary to make low-drift nozzles work at peak efficiency.

"A lot of older sprayers can't maintain boom pressures high enough to make some of the new nozzles work like they're supposed to," says Killian. "Make sure whatever spray system you build or buy has enough pump capacity to handle high pressures now and higher pressures in the future."

After the spray delivery system, swath markers are another feature important to accurate chemical delivery. Farmers are often intimidated by price when they shop for swath-marking systems.

"When it comes to foam markers, bigger is usually better," says Popp. "Bigger lines, bigger pump and bigger foam outlets mean bigger foam marks. You'll waste a lot of chemical if you can't keep track of your mark."

What about the use of a Global Positioning System (GPS) unit to guide sprayers precisely through fields?

"Right now, those systems are expensive," says Popp. "If you're trying to save money by building your own sprayer, they're probably not the economical choice for the typical farmer's budget." ■

James Wm. Beard, the youngest son of William and Martha, settled in Kernersville, N. C. and founded the mercantile and tobacco manufacturing firm of Beard & Roberts. James Wm. Beard, Jr., the eldest son, is employed by the Royster-Gauno (fertilizer) company in Norfolk, Virginia. Both of his daughters are married to medical doctors, and his son Ralph is employed by an electrical company in Pittsburgh. Carrie, the only daughter to marry, is the wife of a prominent dentist in Winston-Salem, N. C., Dr. Phin Horton. J. Grover Beard is listed in Who's Who. He is Dean of the University of North Carolina School of Pharmacy at Chapel Hill, N. C. His son J. Grover Beard, Jr., was graduated in 1932 from the Cathedral School in Washington, D. C.

James senior's son R. Bruce Beard was educated at A. & M. College, Raleigh, N. C. At the time of his marriage he was engineer on the Seaboard, and was City Engineer of Jacksonville, Florida for eleven years. He held that position at Gainesville, Fla. at the time of his death. His wife Meta was educated at Meredith College. She is the daughter of John Wm. Upchurch of Raleigh, one of the oldest retail and wholesale merchants of that city. Meta's grandfather I. L. Wright was a professor of Greek for twenty-five years at Trinity College.

Susan Mabel Beard, daughter of Bruce and Meta, weighed only 2½ pounds at birth, but is a strong woman to-day. She married Edward Stearns, a descendant of Isaac Stearns who came from England to Salem, Massachusetts in 1603, a wealthy, influential man.

R. Bruce Beard, Jr., became a mechanist and linotype operator, but is now mechanical superintendent of the Gainesville Sun, daily newspaper there. He is a member of Gainesville Lodge No. 41 A.F.A.M. of high standing—also a member of Lodge of Perfection No. 4, Valley of Jacksonville, Orient of Florida, and Gainesville Forest No. 105, Tall Cedars of Lebanon. He is president of the Gainesville Typographical Union, and belongs to the First Methodist Church.

Marjorie Beard's husband Wilbur Masters is an electrician.

Rememdering Mama [Nee META ELEANOR U] (1-6)

Mama was Meta Eleanor Upchurch, daughter of John William and Eldora (Wright) Upchurch and the wife of Robert Bruce Beard. This is some of the memories she told us over the years as we were growing up. Mama did not talk much of her life, just bits and pieces. I hope to records much as Helen and I can remmeber.

Mama and her "boy" friend were out early one evening and they passed a black church full of people who must have been having a special meeting. Anyway they were very noisy. Mama and her friend decided to have some fun. Somehow they got up to the bell tower and rang the bell. The worshipers scattered thinking the end of the world had come. Mama didn't say what kind of punishment they got for doing something like that.

All of my growing up years, Mama would mention that we had a Cherokee Indian princess for a grandmother. I could not find her tho I wish I could have. She also said the Benjamin Franklin was an ancestor. I think he would have been on Daddy's side. She mentioned Kay Keyser, the band leader of the 40's being a cousin. I found him in the Royster line.

When Mama lived in Raleigh there was an old grist mill, known simply as the old mill. (Yates Mill) In the picture I have shows a building so old it looks as if you blinked it would fall down. In this picture there is a man standing in one of the windows on an upper floor. Mama had written on the back that the man was Johnny Lee and the the old mill was almost 200 years old, 1946. She must have meant the the mill would be 200 in 1946. Mama was incapacitated in 1946 from a stroke. We often heard her speak of the old mill and the good mermories it brought back.

About 1910 Mama and Daddy moved to Florida with their four small children. Daddy went to work for the Jones- Upchurch Lumber yard. Which one is not known at this time or it might have been several different camps belonging to the same company.

Mama did not describe the cabin that they lived in at the lumber yard. She did mention the windows. They were large squares one with a wooden shutters that covered the window opening when shut. Once she said the she looked up and a cow had its head in the window. Another time she heard a noise and turned around and saw a man coming thru the wimdown. He already had one leg over the sill. By this time Daddy had taught Mama how to shoot a gun and she became good at it. Anyway when she saw this man at her window she shot. She said that she heard him groan as he hit the ground. She did not kill him. She was never bothered again that way. Mama always made the children come early. By making them come in early and closing the shutters, the children did not get malaria.

It was in this same camp that Mama taught the children their school work. When they got back to civilization they entered the school system at a higher grade then they were supposed to.

At one time Mama owned a big black dog. What breed I don't know. When it came time to put the dog to sleep, Mama insisted that since it was her dog she wanted to be the one. Later she was to tell me that she still felt the pain and she could see the eyes of the dog pleading for help.

The following anecdotes are from Barbara's memories of her grandmother: → [Nee META ELEANOR W] ↳ [NEE BARBARA ANN DAVIES]

We were standing at the kitchen sink side by side, and I felt very small next to her on my left. She was wearing something long and white. She was preparing food or perhaps washing up. As I think about it, there was a tomato soup can. Perhaps she had let me assist in some way because I remember feeling very happy at being there with her in the light, and I also felt adventurous as if something special were happening.

When I was three or four years old, it was decided that I should and would take piano lessons. From the beginning I despised these lessons with a fine fury, and I would do anything to avoid going down the street to my teacher's house. On this particular day, Grandmother who was already ill was asleep in her hospital bed. I crawled way under the bed towards her pillow where the overhang of the sheets easily concealed me. I felt she was my partner in crime. Mama was calling me, threatening she would ring up the police to insure my timely departure. Under that bed, I felt very safe and secure.

I remember grandmother's eyes as she lay dying. They were piercing and haunting. Later I saw those same eyes in the faces of my mother and my Aunt Mable as they stared at their death.

Mama died 47 years ago today, 1 January 1995. She died after a long illness of 4 years and 3 strokes on 1 January 1948. I was snowed bound and broke in Connecticut and couldn't get home. Helen found her on the floor one morning in 1944. She had had a stroke. She never got out of bed again.

I will close this part for now and take it up again on the new computer. Maybe Helen can add her memories. Helen found Mama on the floor when she had her first stroke.

This is the 18th of March 1995
