The Poe Family

Simon Poe, with other members of the family, came to Chatham County from Virginia as early as 1759 and settled near George's Creek. In the early years of the Revolution, Benjamin and Jessie Poe, came from Culpepper County. It was in the home of Simon's son, Stephen, that Chatham Court was held until the first courthouse was built. Stephen was elected to represent Chatham in the Colonial Assembly of 1774, but died before taking his seat.

Dr. Clarence Poe

Clarence Hamilton Poe (1881-1965), born near Gulf to William Baxter and Susan Dismukes Poe, became assistant editor of The Progressive Farmer at the age of 16, and two years later he was made editor. In 1903 he purchased the magazine, and for the rest of his life used it as an instrument to promote improved farming and better living conditions throughout the south. In the thirties he launched a nationwide campaign for good health. The North Carolina Medical Care Commission was a direct result of his report to Governor Broughton and the General Assembly on the findings of a commission which he headed to investigate health needs of the state. He served on the American Commission on Hospital Care (1944-46) and in 1951 was appointed by President Truman to a committee on health needs of the nation. Dr. Poe married Alice Aycock, daughter of Governor Charles B. Aycock.

Robert Aycock

BLACKSBURG, VA

Robert Aycock of Blacksburg, Virginia, passed away on Thursday, December 3, 2009, just 20 days shy of his 90th birthday.

Beloved father, grandfather, husband, uncle, and colleague, he is remembered for his generosity, deep affections, and kindness—and for his incomparable dry wit. A scientist with a keen appreciation for history and literature, he was a man of broad reading and interests. He loved family and family roots. He was interested in the human condition.

Robert Aycock was born on a small farm in Claiborne Parish, Louisiana on December 23, 1919 to the late Seaborn Ray Aycock and Mary Amanda Hightower Aycock. He grew up during the years of the Great Depression, graduated from Louisiana State University in 1936 and continued his education at North Carolina State University in Raleigh, North Carolina.

During the World War II years, he served in the Army Medical Corps, first in a detachment servicing a regiment of Coast Guard Artillery and later as a laboratory technician at Lovell General Hospital in Fort Devens, Massachusetts.

In 1947, Bob returned to North Carolina State and undertook a PhD program in Plant Pathology. After graduation in 1949, his first employment was at Edisto Experiment Station, a branch of Clemson College, in Blackville, South Carolina. He returned to North Carolina in 1955 as a plant pathologist at the Horticultural Crops Research Station at Castle Hayne, where he conducted research of diseases of field-grown ornamental bulb crops. In 1963, he returned for a part-time extension position on the Raleigh campus, assuming major responsibility for the Plant Disease Clinic, while continuing research on the diseases of ornamentals.

Bob served North Carolina State University as head of the Department of Plant Pathology, from 1973-84. In this capacity, he took a special interest in the welfare of graduate students. He and his wife tendered warm hospitality to generations of these students, sending them off to conferences with home-made food, hosting gatherings for them, and keeping up with their achievements years after their departure from NC State. From 1969-72 Bob was editor-in-chief of the major journal in the field, Phytopathology. He served as President of the American Phytopathological Society in 1976, and in 1979 he was named a Fellow of the society. He was selected Outstanding Plant Pathologist by the APS Southern Division in 1984.

Bob was preceded in death by his beloved wife Elsie, his brothers, Seaborn Ray Aycock, Paul Aycock, Marion Aycock, and sister, Ellice Aycock Larance.

He is survived by his daughter and son-in-law, Nancy and Paul Metz of Blacksburg, his daughter and son-in-law, Suzanne Aycock and Virgil Jefferson Foutch of Bahama, North Carolina, his grandchildren Robert and Estella Metz of Blacksburg and Emma and Jenny King of Bahama, and many beloved nieces and nephews.

A memorial service will be held at Blacksburg Presbyterian Church at 11:30 a.m. on Wednesday, December 9. Bob's friends and family in Raleigh, North Carolina will gather to celebrate his life the week of January 4th at a time to be announced.

In lieu of flowers, memorial donations may be made to the Elsie J. and Robert Aycock Student Travel Award, American Phytopathological Foundation, 3340 Pilot Knob Road, St. Paul, Minnesota 55121.

In an open field, about thirty-five feet south of Morgan street and near Boylan avenue on the east, under what was once a stalwart mulberry tree, but now decayed and tottering with time, and without a stone or slab to mark the spot, is the last resting place of Joel Lane.

This place, in the early part of the century, was owned by Peter Browne, one of the first lawyers to settle in Raleigh. Subsequently, in 1818, it was sold by him to Wm. Boylan. At present it is occupied by Mr. R. L. Potts and his cultured and interesting family.

As many descendants of Col. Joel Lane are still living among us, a brief sketch of the Lane family may prove not uninteresting:

There were five of the Lane brothers—Joel, Joseph, Jesse, James and Barnabas. The three first mentioned settled in the vicinity of Raleigh in 1741. Col. Joel Lane's first wife was Martha Hinton, his second Mary Hinton, daughters of Col. John Hinton, of Wake. Joseph Lane married Ferebee Hunter. He died in 1798. The maiden name of the wife of James Lane was Lydia Speight. Jesse Lane had a son, John, who married Betsy Street, of Buncombe, and these two were the father and mother of General Joseph Lane, of Oregon, who was the candidate for Vice-President in 1860, on the ticket with Breckenridge. Jesse Lane married Winifred Aycock, and these were grandparents of ex-Governor Swain.

Joel Lane had six sons and an equal number of daughters. The sons were: Henry, James, William, John, Thomas and Joel; the daughters were, Nancy, Martha, Elizabeth, Mary, Dorothy and Grizzelle. The eldest son, Henry, was the grandfather of the late Henry Mordecai, and second cousin to General Joseph Lane. This relationship between the latter and Mr. Mordecai occasioned, in 1860, when the Vice-Presidential candidate came to Raleigh, the most distinguished social gathering which had ever been observed here.

This was at the residence of Mr. Mordecai, on the northern limits of the city, to which were invited every one of consequence hereabouts and all the kinspeople of the Lanes and Mordecais far and near. It is said to have been the most brilliant and elaborate affair ever known in the history of the capital. Among others present, and who were descendants of Joel Lane, were members of the following families: Devereuxs, McCullers (John Joseph Lane McCullers, father of Mr. Chas. E. and Dr. Joseph McCullers), the late Col. L. D. Stephenson, Matthew Stephenson, Austin Jones, and a great many others whose names are not now recalled.

The living descendants, now in this vicinity, of Henry Lane, are Mrs. Margaret L. Little and five sons; Miss Martha Mordecai, Mrs. Mary W. Turk and two children; Mrs. Ellen Mordecai, her son S. F. Mordecai and his eight children; Mrs. Margaret Devereux and daughters—Mrs. J. J. Mackay and five children, Mrs. J. W. Hinsdale and five children, and Misses Annie and Laura Devereux.

Capt. J. J. Thomas, Dr. D. E. Everett, Joseph G. and Jno. W. Brown are also descendants of Col. Lane. The late W. H. Holleman was Col. Lane's great-grandson. Mrs. Margaret E. Rowland, of Middle Creek Township, and mother of J. T. and Rev. Chas. H. Rowland, is also lineally descended from Col. Lane, whose son James was Mrs. Rowland's great-grandfather.

Mrs. Lydia Brown, mother of Messrs. Jno. W. and Joseph G. Brown, was a granddaughter of James Lane.

Mrs. Phil. Thiem, her sons and daughters—one of the latter being Mrs. Walter Woolcott; Mrs. John Redford; Miss Janie Brown; Mrs. Richard Young, her sons and daughter; the children of the late Nat. L. Brown, and Mrs. W. M. Brown, her sons and daughters—are also descendants (through their mother and grandmother, the late Mrs. Lydia Brown), of James Lane.

Other descendants of the historic Lanes are Messrs. Thomas J. Stephenson and his brothers, David, James M., Lonnie D., Jr., Nathaniel R., Ralph Lane, and sisters, Sallie E. and Julia V. Stephenson—sons and daughters of the late Col. L. D. Stephenson—all of Middle Creek Township, this county.

Mr. Chas. E. McCullers, of Raleigh, has in his possession a powder-horn and mahogany walking-cane, with the name of "Joseph Lane" carved on each, the lettering being still quite distinct.

Farley/Aylworth Wed

On May 30, Gloria Farley of Heavener attended the wedding of her grandson, Matthew Scott Farley, son of Scott and Jennifer Farley of Wichita, Ks., to Ruthann Maureen Aylworth, daughter of Harold and Wendy Aylworth, also of Wichita. The 2 p.m. ceremony was held at the Mount Vernon Presbyterian Church of Wichita, where the bride is employed. It was also attended by Gloria's son, Mark, his wife Sandee and his son Aaron Farley of Fort Smith, Ar. Matthew is employed by the Wheat State Telephone Network Administration of Udall, Ks. He plans to adopt Ruthann's two-year-old son, Zachary, making Gloria a new great-grandmother.

her father wrote most of this -

Volume 1, Issue 3

May 30, 1998

Provo, Utah.
On May 19, 1976, Ruthann Maureen Aylworth slid into the world. The father was so excited about her entry into the world all he could say was, "We have ourselves a girl. We have ourselves a little girl." The mother was much too exhausted for comment.

Later, the husband and new father narrowly escaped a swift execution when he thoughtlessly exclaimed, "Gee, that was fun, let's do it again."

Ruthann had no comments but did exercise her lungs and vocal cords in preparation for her future brother and sister and her adolescent years.

Aylworth to Wed Farley

Wichita, Kansas. Nearly a year and a half has passed since the blind date which brought Ruthann Maureen Aylworth and Mathew Scott Farley together. Ruthann is quoted as saying, "I knew when I met him that I would marry Matt." It was difficult for Ruthann following the birth of her son, Zachary. She thought no one would want to marry into to a ready made family, but a single blind date set up by Ruthann's friend Gianna Linenberger changed all that and so did Matt's big heart.

The date took the couple to the Crown Uptown Dinner Theater. According to Ruthann the date was wonderful. There was only one small flaw to the date; Matt did not ask for Ruthann's phone number. Other dates followed but not once did Matt ask for Ruthann's phone number.

A question arose in Ruthann's mind as to whether Matt really liked her very well because he hadn't asked for the phone number. Finally, at a dinner party Matt brought Ruthann a white carnation and a small neatly wrapped package containing a pager. To this day Ruthann believes Matt presented her with the pager just so he would not have to ask for her phone number.

Matt supported this supposition by confirming that he was shy and pensively said, "I didn't want to appear too eager and ruin a good thing."

It was nearly nine months into their relationship before Matt began thinking along the lines of marriage. It is clear that Matt chased Ruthann until she finally caught him.

Since Ruthann caught Matt, they will tie the knot and marry today at 2P.M. in the Mt. Vernon Presbyterian Church.

Ruthann prepares for the family of the future.

Who is Matt Farley and What about a Van down by the River

Wichita, Kansas. Mathew Scott Farley was born in Muskogee, Ok., Sept. 9, 1972.

When he turned three years old, his parents moved to Wichita. Matt graduated from Wichita's Northwest High School in 1991. Following high school he attended Wichita State University earning a Bachelor of Arts degree in Electronic Media/Communications. During his college career, Matt interned at KAKE Television and a radio station in Wichita.

Matt decided to get his masters degree and continued at WSU. Before he was able to complete the program, Ruthann distracted him, so he decided employment was a wise idea. He found work with Wheatstate Telephone and became a Network Specialist with Key Creations in Udall, Kansas.

Ruthann's father began teasing her about Matt living in a van down by the river, following several

Younger Sister's View of Wedding

by Rochelle Aylworth

Ruthann is getting married. I think that this is a good opportunity for me to earn more money from their honeymoon. Sure, I may get to play the piano and be a bridesmaid, but none of that really matters. What I care about are the issues, like: what is going to be standing on top of the cake, how much I'm getting paid and when are Ruthann and Matt moving into their house.

When they are married, it will probably affect my life about as much as the flies on some isolated tropical island where the wheel still hasn't been invented. I will still go to school, watch Zach and mop his parents' kitchen floor.

This fall though, this union might effect my life a little more: Ruthann will be in the nursing program, so I get to watch Zach two more days a week. Unfortunately, by that time all those little mints bought specifically for the wedding will be gone.

What about a Van Down by the River dates. Her father questioned, "Well isn't he related to Chris Farley who played a character on Saturday Night Live who lived in a van down by the river?" Ruthann replied sardonically, "No Dad, he has a van but he doesn't live down by the river. The two are not related."

When did They Grow Up?

by Harold R. Aylworth

I really did not think my children would ever grow up. Deep down I always hoped they would stay small, cute and untouched by the world. But nature betrayed me and my two older children became adults with another child close on their heels.

Ruthann, being the oldest and a trailblazer, placed the cart before the horse starting a family before she met Matt. I know she worried about finding a fine man to become father to her very smart son. Matt fit the picture Ruthann had for father and husband. I am happy they are getting married.

It is difficult for me to get the image of my little baby, my little girl out my mind. Today, she is mother and wife. She grew up in spite of my desires. She became independent, freely thinking her own thoughts without my interference.

Exactly when this little girl became grown-up I cannot pinpoint. It seems to me, Ruthann spent a long time burping up on my suit coat. The next thing I remember hearing she is going to have a baby, then she is to be married. I am beginning to feel much like Rip Van Winkle. I feel as if I awoke from a fifteen year nap and all has changed.

There was a time when I was smart and could do everything in Ruthann's eyes. Now it will fall to Matt. I will become background to Ruthann's foreground. I truly miss the little girl who grew up before I was ready for it to happen. Yet, I look forward to her happiness and struggles for the future.

She is grown, married, with a family of her own. I suppose it will happen to her siblings and my feelings will be the same for each of my children. I will wonder what happened, when did they growup?

Deep down I always hoped they would stay small, cute and untouched by the world.

Father of the Bride Reacts to Wedding

Wichita, Kansas. The father of the bride, Harold R. Aylworth was heard to say on a number of occasions, "Well if they want to get married, I could buy them a ladder so they could sneak off." That statement was always met with family boos.

When asked if Matt was good enough for his daughter, the father grumbled, "He can't be all bad, he works with computers too."

"I only wish them the best and that they avoid the mistakes I made in my marriage and in raising my children."

SISTER MOVED BACK IN!?

by
Rochelle Aylworth

Ruthann has moved back in. She is currently sleeping in the recreation room (so, it's now very crowded). I think that two certain parents would like very much if we gave them a bit of peace.

In the mornings we should be very careful not to disturb her. Ruthann works nights at McDonalds and needs to get her sleep.

Nanook is attached to middle of the floor at the head of Ruthann's bed. Please try not to step on him. I think Ruthann would like it a lot if her dog didn't get any bones broken before his first birthday. (Special message to Herb #1 keep the music down.)

I also think that Ruthann would be happy if we didn't use up all her stuff while she is living here (just like the Jif

Do not get too irritable with all of those make-up containers that she uses to cover up her naturally beautiful face.

Boots and Nanook Wed

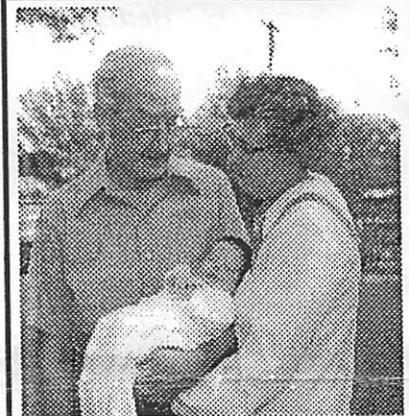

by

Rochelle Aylworth

Boots and Nanook were married in February 1996. The wedding took place at their residence. They spent their honeymoon at home barking at each other and other things.

Boots has been quite eager to, shall we say, start a family. Unfortunately, Nanook has minimal interest in that area of marriage.

Although Nanook has confessed he has had thoughts on leaving Boots, the two hope to work things out and be together for a long time.

Proud Grandparents admire new grandson.

Mystery Toddler Stops Escalators in Mall

Mystery toddler stops escalators in Malls around Wichita.

Witnesses expressed amazement when the escalators ground to a halt. Some claimed they saw embarrassed parents drag the little boy off into the crowds.

Some believe the toddler has an advanced sense of humor. Others think the toddler is health freak and believes people should walk up stairs not ride.

If authorities can identify the toddler, they will duct tape his index fingers to the palm of his hands.

Toddler Bounces into ER

Toddler bounces on her bed rather than napping as her parents told her.

The four year old girl slipped on bed clothing and cracked her head on the window sill and began bleeding profusely.

Ruthann Aylworth was taken to Wesley Hospital emergency room by her father, Harold.

Her father calmly and carefully instructed the little girl about many of the procedures the doctor and nurse would perform on her.

Harold nearly passed out while the wound was cleaned. Ruthann braved the cleaning and stitches without a tear. The doctor threatened Harold with smelling salts, but Harold choose a chair for stability.

Portraits of Bride and Groom

Ruthann discusses life, the universe, and everything with her brother, Herb.

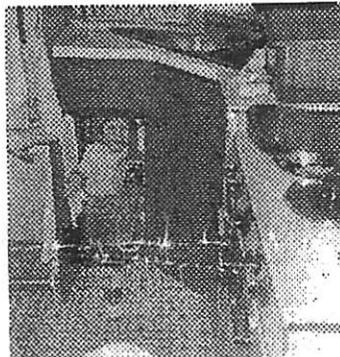

Scott + Matt

Will the real Matthew Scott Farley please stand up.

Matt

Matt began his clean cut image at a very young age.

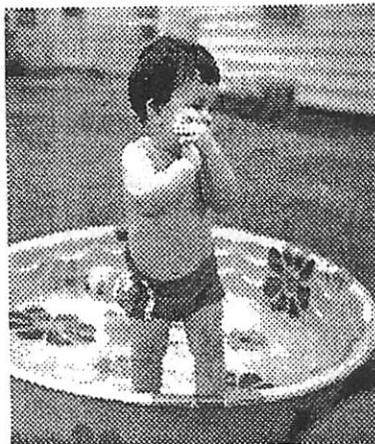

Ruthann hiding from her public.

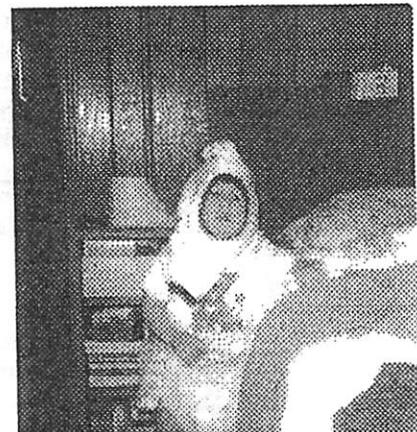

“A picture is worth a thousand words.”

Ruthann always sitting on the leading edge of things.

Matt considered a career in swimming but it was too shallow.

Ruthann's fashion sense has always been suspect.
