It was great to see you over Christmas!

Thank you for taking the time
 to come by the gym house
 & thank you for the chocolates!

I think Rick & I are half the box driving across Kansas!!

Hope to see you soon!

RPU EXPERIMENTS

Introduction

This document is designed to serve as a tool whereby RPU practices how to perform certain tasks on the computer and then in this same document preserves the process worked out for future reference. Major projects are to be preserved in a series of numbered sections for which brief titles are shown in the Index which follows. However, some tools are immediately needed as follows:

a. How do I center the above title? Clic on "Ctrl+E" Afterwards hit space bar and then "Ctrl+J" to return to normal.

b. How do I name and save this document? Go to file and clic on "save as". Will be automatically save in "My Documents" and with title "RPU EXPERIMENTS.doc" When using the document subsequently clic on "save" or type "ctrl+ S". To retrieve the doc clic on My Documents on the Desktop.

Index

1. Attachment of documents to emails
2. Placement of a document in a file
3. Placement of this file on the Desktop

CONTENTS

1. Attachment of documents to emails. It is easy! While in "Compose Mode" clic on "Add attachments either before composing or after. A list of "My Documents" will appear among which will be "RPU EXPERIMENTS.doc" on which clic. This places this doc in the File Name Box below. Clic on "open". This doc now is an attachment to the email being composed.

2. Placement of a document in a file. The initial save is automatic as shown in the Introduction. Now for other options.

3. Placement of this file on the Desktop

Contact Roxio, Inc. for support

This problem was caused by a compatibility issue between Windows Vista and Roxio DLA. This program was created by Roxio, Inc.. At this time, Windows Vista does not support this version of Roxio DLA. Roxio DLA has been blocked from running because it might keep your computer from starting correctly in the future.

In addition, some drivers used by Roxio DLA are also used by Roxio Drag-to-Disc. Because of these shared drivers, Windows Vista has also blocked Roxio Drag-to-Disc from running.

More Info

Some AT&T Internet customers use browsers that appear on their desktop as "SBC Yahoo!" or "AT&T Yahoo!" to access their Internet accounts and email.

Effective October 1st, this outdated browser software will not be able

Step 1: Print this page for future reference to log in to your AT&T Internet service.

If you are one of these users, or are not sure, please follow the easy steps

Step 2: Click here to check and auto remove outdated browser software

1. Print this page for reference. After step 2, this Internet page will close and you will not be returned to it.

Step 3: Access your att.net Internet

account with Internet Explorer: click

2. Uninstall AT&T Yahoo! or SBC Yahoo! Browser

this icon on your desktop:  Click here to automatically remove the AT&T/SBC Yahoo! browser

Or to manually remove the browser, do the following:

- a. Click Start on the Windows Toolbar
- b. Click Settings and select Control Panel.
- c. Select Add/Remove Programs.
- d. Select AT&T Yahoo! Applications.
Note: on some versions this could read "SBC Yahoo! Applications" or "SBC Yahoo! Browser"
- e. Select Change/Remove.
- f. Select AT&T Yahoo! Browser or SBC Yahoo! Browser.
- g. Select Uninstall.
- h. Select Yes

3. Access the Internet via Internet Explorer

- a. Click on this icon on your desktop
- b. or find Internet Explorer under Start, Programs, Internet Explorer and select Open

4. Add updated browser - Visit the Software Center at <http://att.software.yahoo.com/choice> for available software compatible for your system such as Internet Explorer 8 optimized for att.net for improved Internet browsing and security.

Any of the below browsers are compatible with AT&T Internet service and provide outstanding and safe Internet browsing experiences:

- Internet Explorer optimized for att.net
- Mozilla Firefox 3.x and above
- Google Chrome
- Opera 9.5 and above
- Safari 3.1 and above

If you download a new browser, be sure to to reset your homepage to att.net. Here's how: open the browser, go to www.att.net, find the "Options" settings link in the top of the browser (locations vary), then in the "Homepage" settings area type "www.att.net" to set it as your homepage. Instructions for the different browsers vary. For more assistance, visit www.att.com/esupport.

Use your Bookmarks - Did you have bookmarks with your AT&T Yahoo! Browser that you want to retrieve? Don't worry, they're saved. To access your AT&T Yahoo! Browser saved bookmarks, please visit <http://bookmarks.yahoo.com> and log in with each user ID that had bookmarks saved.

For more information on exporting and importing bookmarks into your new browser, visit www.att.com/esupport/article.jsp?sid=KB402059.
