338 WILLIAM JONES

1724 - 1804

William Jones is the son of Col. Robert Jones and his wife Elizabeth Brereton natives of Virginia's Northern Neck. Col. Robert Jones, son of Capt. William Jones Sheriff and Justice of Northumberland County, Virginia, is the grandson of the original emigrant Robert Jones, a merchant who settled on Fleet's Bay. William's mother Elizabeth Brereton is a descendant of Col. Thomas Brereton (c1630-1683) Clerk of Virginia Colony from 1654 to 1661 and his wife Jane Claiborne daughter of Col. William Claiborne merchant, planter, Virginia Colony's Secretary of State and Deputy Governor. Most of Col. Robert Jones' children were born in Northumberland where William and his twin brother Thomas were baptized at St. Stephen's; their birth is recorded in the parish register as the 15th of October 1723. William's father moved the family to Cumberland Parish, Brunswick County, Virginia around 1725 and settled on a 900-acre farm worked by an enslaved labor force of about twelve people. This land later falls into the borders of current day Lunenburg County, where Robert's will is proved in 1750. At his father's death, William is found as head of the household, probably as his eldest brother returned to northern Virginia to manage his father's lands in that region. By 1754, William had married Elizabeth the widow of John Gwin.

Elizabeth's father is believed to be John Twitty, a large landowner in Lunenburg County and a native of New Kent County, Virginia. Her mother is assumed to be Mary, who is named as John's wife at that time. John died in the state about May of 1755 and Mary died by May 1759, John Twitty acquired over 3,000 acres of land throughout the Southside of Virginia, was a surveyor, ran an ordinary, and served as a vestryman for Cumberland Parish. Elizabeth Twitty Gwin brought to the Jones household at least one minor child John and probably a daughter named Mary (or Margaret). These children are named in the 1752 will of their grandfather David Gwin and are also found in Granville County records. John Gwin left many records in Granville and Person Counties; in the latter he married Jane Wade. Jane left legacies to John's half-siblings in his will.

Between 1758 and 1760, William Jones started acquiring land in North Carolina. Due to the common occurrence of the name, "William Jones," in records it is extremely difficult to positively identify William in the North Carolina records; however, the 1760 Granville deed to William Jones "of Lunenburg" for 350 acres on Robin's Branch of the Tar River is believed to be the son of Col. Robert. In Granville there were at least three other William Jones during this era; two are father and son and the third a son of Vinkler Jones. Some tax records use the moniker of "Big" to differentiate one William Jones from the other three; this is believed to be William son of Robert. The one record we can positively identify as belonging to William Jones is his will, which was written on the 10th of April 1800 and proved in November Court of 1804. William Jones' will mentions no surviving wife, but clearly lists his children. The will provides very little detail as to his land and wealth and no inventory of his estate have been discovered. The children of William Jones and his wife Elizabeth Twitty are:

Brereton Jones (1755-1810) who married Martha Dianna Bressie and raised a large family in Granville County. Brereton and his family are discussed elsewhere in this publication.

Leeanna Jones was born the 02nd of August 1763 and died in 1840. In 1781, she married Abraham (1759-1838), the son of William Lawrence and his wife Deborah (Spivey?). The couple lived in the vicinity of Grissom and is interred in a graveyard at the Ned York Place. It is believed they had the following children: William Twitty Lawrence who married Liddy Pruitt; Abraham Lawrence who married Lucy Chambliss; Turner Lawrence who married Priscilla M. Upchurch; and Anna Lawrence who married William Cardwell. Granville planter John p. Lawrence is a descendant of Leeanna.

Elizabeth Jones was born about 1758 and died in 1844 in Orange County, NC. Elizabeth married in 1786 to James (c1755-1810), the son of John and Margaret Patterson; of North Ireland origins who came from Pennsylvania and settled in the area of Burlington in Alamance County, North Carolina. James Patterson settled on Dials Creek near the Person County border in Orange County. Elizabeth filed a Revolutionary War Pension for her husband's service and was denied; she also provided deposition for her brother's war pension. James and Elizabeth are known to have had the following children: Thomas Bowen Patterson (1787-1847) who married Elizabeth Walker and removed to Vigo County, Indiana. James Patterson who married Elizabeth Stovall and settled in Person County. Mark Patterson who married Melinda Rose and removed to Arkansas. William Jones Patterson who married Sara Hutson and lived in Person County. Elizabeth Caroline Patterson who married Robert Lawrence and removed to Rockingham County, NC.

Margaret Twitty Jones "Peggy" married in 1783 to William Turner Lawrence another son of William and Deborah Lawrence. Very little is known about this family. Peggy was alive in 1818. Her children may include: Peggy Lawrence who married her first cousin Bernard Jones; Henry Bassett Lawrence who married Elisabeth Prewett and removed to Benton County, Tennessee; and Mary Gwin Lawrence who married Joel Furguson.
