From Lt 29 MAY 1993 Patrick Layton Sanders, Jr DRPM

Incidentally, the name of the plantation where my sister Ruth married was Glover -- not Grover -- Plantation. The four of us were all raised there, just south of Memphis, in the section of the state of Mississippi that is called the Delta. Glover used to belong to the family of Colonel Bedford, the famous Confederate military leader in the War Between the States. There was much tradition among those who lived at Glover, a beautiful rose garden and many Magnolia trees. Most of the Blacks had been born right there on the "Place", and their grandparents and great-grandparents had been slaves there. The same bell that rang during Civil War times was rung every morning at six by Nick Branch, whose father and grandfather and great-grandfather had rung the same bell. He also rang it at noon, one in the afternoon and six in the evening.

My father, for whom I am named, was a Planter and Gentleman of the "Old School". He had been named for Patrick Layton, a South Carolinian who was the brother of Delitha Layton who married my second great grandfather, William Sanders, of Kershaw District, South Carolina. During approximately the same time period the Upchurches migrated to Greene County, the Sanders family migrated West, through Pickens County, Alabama, to Neshoba and Attala County, Mississippi. It is fascinating to me that the Layton name appears in the Upchurch family, as well, and perhaps one day I will be able to explore that connection.

P.S. The slave bell was high off the ground, in a wisteria-covered tower.

Sincerely yours,

Layton

Generation No. 1

△ I. HENRY<sup>1</sup> BUNN was born Abt. 1790 in NC<sup>1</sup>, and died Aft. 1860. He married PENNINA PENDERGRASS 15 Aug 1815 in Wake Co., NC, daughter of SOLOMON SALISBURY PENDERGRASS. She was born Abt. 1796 in NC<sup>2</sup>, and died Aft. 1870. △

Notes for HENRY BUNN:

In 1830, Henry Bunn and his family lived in the Little River District of Wake Co., NC. That district borders Franklin County, and includes Zebulon, NC. According to the minutes of Hepzibah Baptist Church, Henry and his wife, Pennina, were members of that church. Henry was baptized there in November of 1828 and Pennina was baptized there in November 1829. In October of 1831, Henry was excommunicated by the church for the sin of drunkenness. Later, in February of 1833 he was restored to the Fellowship again. In February, 1836 Henry was again excommunicated for drunkenness. The US Census for years 1840 & 1850, Franklin Co., NC, indicates that Henry Bunn was a farmer in that county at that time. In 1860, Henry had returned to live in Wake Co. and had a post office address of Wakefield.

Notes for PENNINA PENDERGRASS:

Pennina "Penny" Pendergrass was a member of the Hepzibah Baptist Church near what is now the town of Wendell, Wake Co., NC. Minutes from that church indicates that Penny left there in August of 1836. The US Census, 1850, Franklin Co., NC, shows Pennina "Penny" Pendergrass was living in that county and was 45 years of age. Age shown is probably erroneous, since she was married in 1815. At that time, according to the census, she would have been only 10 years old. The 1870 census for Franklin Co., shows Penny to be 75 years old and living in the "Poor House" in the Sandy Creek Township. That would put her birthdate at ca. 1795.

He also rang it at noon, one in the afternoon and six in the evening.

My father, for whom I am named, was a Planter and Gentleman of the "Old School". He had been named for Patrick Layton, a South Carolinian who was the brother of Delitha Layton who married my second great grandfather, William Sanders, of Kershaw District, South Carolina. During approximately the same time period the Upchurches migrated to Greene County, the Sanders family migrated West, through Pickens County, Alabama, to Neshoba and Attala County, Mississippi. It is fascinating to me that the Layton name appears in the Upchurch family, as well, and perhaps one day I will be able to explore that connection.

P.S. The slave bell was high off the ground, in a wisteria-covered tower.

Sincerely yours,

Layton
