Apex

Historical Raleigh (enlarged and revised edition)
With Sketches of Wake County (from 1771)
And Its Important Towns
Descriptive, Biographical, Educational, Industrial, Religious, Illustrated.
By Moses N. Amis - 1913

△ The town of Apex had its beginning with the close of the Civil War. Among its first settlers were J. McC. Ellington, H. C. Olive, Q. I. Hudson, W. F. Utley, W. H. Harward, Brinkley Olive, A. N. Betts and others, who contributed to its life in the beginning and afterwards. It was incorporated by the Legislature of 1871-'72, with the late Hon. H. C. Olive as its first mayor. It derived its name from being the highest point on the survey of the Raleigh & Augusta Air Line Railroad.

Until 1905 it was but a small town, where the standard of virtue, intelligence and patriotism was high, but where little progress in material things had been made. In that year, beginning with the organization of a bank and the establishment of a tobacco market, began a new life for the town and surrounding community. Fire later destroying a number of unsightly frame buildings, the first brick structure was soon erected. Again, in June, 1911, nearly all the remaining old frame buildings in the business section were also consumed by fire. Now the principal street of the town (Salem) is lined with handsome pressed-brick-front stores. Business houses have continued to increase in number, until now nearly everything to complete a small city is here represented. This metropolis of western Wake is one of the busiest, most attractive and substantially built towns of its size in North Carolina. Its streets are well laid out and splendidly shaded in the residential sections, while the business part of the town is marked with buildings of beautiful architectural designs and substantial construction.

Apex has a population of about one thousand, and, being located in the centre of one of the best agricultural sections of the State, has a large rural territory from which to draw life and sustenance. It is in the limited "Old Belt" tobacco lands of North Carolina and Virginia, which produce the finest yellow-wrapper tobacco. The tobacco market at Apex is one of its chief industries. It is equipped with two splendid warehouses, three large prizehouses<sup>2</sup>, markets about two million pounds of tobacco annually, and enjoys the distinction of making the highest average price per pound of any market in the State. It is the centre of a fine cotton-production section, the receipts of this staple being from three to five thousand bales of cotton per year.

Public education in Wake County has always found some of its most potent advocates and influences at Apex. Notable among those who have wielded an influence throughout the county in this respect are the late Hon. H. C. Olive, State Senator and for many years chairman of the Wake County Board of Education; Hon. L. J. Sears, at present, and for many years past, chairman of the same board, and Hon. Percy J. Olive, an ex-representative and a public man who has taken an especial interest in the schools. That these gentlemen are and were but the exponents of the sentiment around them is witnessed by the fact that Apex has one of the finest and best-equipped schools in the county, and that every school in White Oak Township levies a local tax to supplement the general education fund.

Few communities in the State have had more additions to their population within the past five years than has that of which Apex is the centre. Those seeking desirable homes have found here a happy combination of advantages—fine lands, intelligent, virtuous and hospitable neighbors, good markets, good roads, good schools and good churches. No fictitious values have been placed upon the lands; for, with the true idea of progress, the efforts of those who have done most for the community's upbuilding have been directed to keeping the real estate at its true value. Contributing mostly to this and at present forming the most valuable of its citizenship, without disparagement to others, may be mentioned Messrs. W. F. Utley, W. H. Harward, A. B. Hunter, L. S. Olive, Percy J. Olive, Dr. W. Wade Olive, S. W. Stone, J. B. Mason, J. W. Lassiter, W. B. Upchurch, J. H. Sears, A. V. Baucom, A. C. Hughes, C. P. Sellars, W. B. Johnson, A. D. Upchurch, Samuel Watkins, Jr., A. T. Seymour, C. R. Weaver, S. T. Bennett, B. H. Pate, J. R. Cunningham, S. V. Hudson, S. S. Rogers, J. R. Norris, G. C. Norris, R. J. Bolling, Dr. R. W. Stephens, Dr. R. W. Johnson, Dr. C. B. Wilkerson, J. F. Mills, S. A. Branch, W. H. F. Branch, L. J. Sears, M. G. Upchurch, G. E. Upchurch, H. B. Harward, J. R. Harward, R. L. Bagley, J. C. Burns, Q. I. Hudson and others.

Growth also an issue in 1911

Newspaper special edition published 84 years ago covers another period of burgeoning development

On Sept. 15, 1911, the 6-year-old Apex Journal published its first Industrial Edition, highlighting the history of the town as well as the people and businesses that had contributed to its more recent progress. According to the editor, Walter N. Keener, the special edition was the realization of a months-long dream and the product of much hard work.

"Should this general survey of our beautiful town be the means of encouraging our citizens to greater efforts and induce people and capital to come among us, we shall feel that we have been repaid," Keener writes on the editorial page.

Keener notes that local merchants and businessmen helped provide the advertising to make the special edition possible. He also talks about the problems "too numerous to mention" his staff faced in putting the edition together.

"But here it is," he writes. "If you like it, say so. If you don't, keep your lid closed."

The Industrial Edition came out as the town's tobacco and cotton markets were preparing to open. One hundred seven pupils had just begun the fall session at the Apex Graded School. And the town commissioners had just called for an election on the question of issuing bonds ($10,000 in 20 years at 5 percent) to build a town hall and make street improvements. Following are excerpts from that special issue:

Wonderful Growth of Apex

History of the town from its incorporation down to the present time — a concise statement of its progress along all lines and the opportunities offered the home-seeker and investor. Why we say "Keep Apex Growing."

What is now the splendid town of Apex had for its original cognomen the undignified appellation of "Log Pond." This name was derived from the fact that that section of the town now occupied by the splendid store of A.B. Hunter and the other brick structure between this and the open park lot of the Seaboard Air Line Railway was under water and filled with logs.

Land was plentiful and agriculture was in a primitive state then. The farmer had an unlimited opportunity of selection and as the land now under the town of Apex was on a ridge, agriculture gravitated to the numerous streams on either side.

Not much history was made until the pall of the Civil War had passed away and the arts of a peaceful civilization had been resumed. This section, like all of the South, suffered in prosperity and in men.

The history of Apex really began with the coming of the Raleigh & Augusta Air Line Railway. During the war this, under the then name of the Chatham Railroad Company, had been projected as a military enterprise to reach and bring into the use of the Confederacy, the products of the coal field of Chatham County.

After the war it was re-organized into the Raleigh and Augusta Air Line Railway Co., having for its aim and object what it has since become, one of the great arteries of commerce of the Southern states.

The first enterprise to follow in the wake of the railroad was the large lumber business of the late J. McC. Ellington, whose son, Frank K. Ellington, is now a prominent citizen of Raleigh. Mr. Ellington was a prosperous man and soon attracted others to his location.

The General Assembly of 1871-1872 incorporated the town of Apex and named its officers. H.C. Olive was its first mayor.

These were the days before prohibition, and Apex like other communities had its liquid refreshments. Many amusing and many equally pathetic experiences might be told of the early "antis." But the people were never of a vicious nature and serious crime was hardly ever known.

These were the unsettled days of the early formative period. They were followed by the more seasoned times when the village of Apex had settled itself into a state of incubation for the future.

Churches were established and schools came. It was a Baptist community, and the Apex Missionary Baptist Church was the first permanent church to be established here.

In 1897 the Cape Fear & Northern Railroad Co. was chartered. In 1905, the pivotal year of Apex's history, this road was extended to Durham and its name changed to the Durham & Southern Railway Company. From this year dates Apex's new growth.

The first enterprise marking the new history and one which more than any other had to do with the continued progress of Apex, was the Merchants & Farmers Bank of Apex.

In 1906, the Planters Warehouse was built. This year also marked the building of the handsome new union railway station. About this time came Mr. A.C. Hughes, our present mayor, who has from the beginning worked heart and soul to carry the community forward.

In this year Messrs. L.S., P.J. and W.W. Olive, C.P. Sellars, J.B. Mason, J.R. Cunningham and A.C. Hughes organized the Apex Land & Improvements Co. This year also marked the established of what had been long needed, adequate school facilities.

From then on the history of Apex was the history of the present — a history day by day of progress and development.

Apex — The Town of Opportunities

A healthy place

A peculiarity about the town is its drainage. One may stand on Salem (the principal) Street any rainy day and see the water flow off one side on its way to the Cape Fear River, and in a few inches on the other side see the waters pursuing their way in an opposite direction to Neuse River. The altitude of the town and the unusual drainage features make it one of the healthiest places to live in to be found anywhere. The drinking water is pure and cool, and the weather never reaches the extremes as found in other places.

Business overview

Briefly stating, Apex has two banks, three hotels and several boarding houses, marble yard, furniture store, two big lumber yards, knitting mill, canning factory, livery stable, two undertaking establishments, newspaper and job office, two big department stores, one drug store, two meat markets, two fish dealers, one big hardware store, a complete gents' furnishing store, one dry goods store (exclusive of department stores), two restaurants, five grocery stores (outside of department stores), large farm supply store, building and loan association, three real estate companies, four insurance offices, one commission broker, two physicians, one dentist, one oculist, two lawyers, four churches, one roller mill, two barber shops, two railroads, two telegraph offices, one general store, and others.

Modern brick buildings that are either being erected or planned for the next six months will be occupied by the following businesses: gents' furnishings and shoes, meat market, moving-picture show, two dry goods stores, one grocery, one hardware, and one drug store, two churches, town hall, and several others.

Besides the above, plans are being made for the addition of at least two manufacturing plants, besides four or five stores.

Businesses

Apex Insurance and Realty Co.

This business, which is one of the largest of its kind in the state, was organized Oct. 13, 1909 for the purpose of conducting a general life, fire and guaranty insurance business in connection with the buying and selling of and the landing of money on real estate. Its of-icers are A.B. Hunter, president; C.P. Sellars, vice president; S.S. Rogers, secretary and treasurer (and active manager), and Percy J. Olive, attorney.

The Apex Mercantile Co. Inc.

One of the most widely serviceable institutions established in Apex during the recent period of the town's history when it was verily awakening from its lethargy, is the Apex Mercantile Company.

This stock company was organized, incorporated and began business Sept. 5, 1910.

The stock carried by the Mercantile Company embraces a wide field. The corporation does a general merchantile business, consisting of dry goods, millinery, shoes, hats and so on. There is a furniture department with a complete line of general household furnishings, bedroom suits, dining room suits and the like. In the grocery department there is always to be found a complete line of the freshest groceries on the market. Coffins, caskets and so on are likewise kept. For the particular benefit of the farmer they always have on hand farm wagons, feed stuffs, and fertilizer in the season, which is handled on a general time basis. Thus anything the townsman or the countryman desires can be secured from the Apex Mercantile Company.

Apex Mule & Supply Company

The inspiration of its organization is due to Mr. C.P. Sellars, who, in 1908, having made Apex his permanent home, and already having entered whole-heartedly into the spirit of progress and development, actuating the business men of this community, saw opportunity for success in a large establishment combining a sales and livery stable, with buggy, wagon, harness, and feed store.

His idea was quickly entered into by Messrs. J.W. Lassiter, L.S. Olive, Percy J. Olive S.W. Stone and W.B. Johnson, and on the 24th day of December 1908, the Apex Mule and Supply Company was organized. A most desirable site was purchased from Mr. L.S. Olive on Salem Street, near Center, where the business was at once located.

This business has steadily grown in volume. Its first year's business amounted to about $50,000, its second to $60,000, and the business for this year will amount to $100,000.

Prominent Citizens

Mr. Alfred V. Baucom

Mr. Alfred V. Baucom was born March 18, 1874. He was educated at the Green Level Academy, and later attended the Pharmaceutical Department of the University of North Carolina. His earlier life was spent on his father's farm in the Green Level section. Just 15 years ago he broke away from the agricultural pursuit and came to Apex, entering service with the firm of Harward & Hunter as salesman, where he continued for approximately four years.

On April 1, 1900 he opened a drug business in company with Harward and Hunter, and the newly erected concern was given the appellation of A.V. Baucom & Company. To anyone who has familiarized himself with the conditions in Apex it is absolutely futile to speak of the service that this drug business has accomplished during the past score years in promoting the prosperity and development of the town.

The destruction of this business in the disastrous fire last June was one of the keenest losses that Apex realized in this unfortunate calamity. Mr. Baucom without delay re-established his business in the old W.F. Utley building, and has continued to accommodate the people as well as the circumstances would permit. He will continue there until December 1 when he will locate in the handsome new brick structure which will be erected on the site formerly occupied by Mr. W.H. Harward. Early in 1912, this will be one of the handsomest, best equipped drug stores in the whole country . . . with one of the most beautiful and expensive soda fountains with solid onyx counter . . . the furniture will be modern, up-to-date, fascinating. A private prescription department will be located in the rear of the store and the customers will, as of old, be given commendable attention.

Mr. A. Clark Hughes

Mayor of Apex and one of the important factors in the town's growth, A.C. Hughes was born in Pittsylvania County, Virginia on April 4, 1861. He was educated at Chatham Male Academy, Chatham, Virginia. In 1895, he moved to Louisburg, N.C. and engaged during the subsequent 10 years in the hardware business, having bought out the Louisburg Hardware and Supply Co. He retired in 1905 and moved to Apex having previously observed the advantages that this town would likely afford with its proper growth and development.

In 1905 then, just on the eve of that period in the progress of this town which might justly be termed its renaissance, Mr. Hughes moved to Apex and established a real estate business while the town was in the merest embryonic state of development and may be termed the pioneer in the progress which issued.

Adolphus B. Hunter

No citizen of all the people of our town has done more for the development of Apex and this community than Mr. A.B. Hunter who has been in the general mercantile business for a longer period than any merchant now in business in Apex.

His father, the late Joseph Hunter, settled on a farm three miles south of Apex where he reared an interesting family of children. After several years attendance in private schools near his home — for in those days the public schools were not worthy of the name — the subject of this sketch entered Wake Forest College where he remained till June 1878.

In July 1878, he moved to Apex and associated himself with Mr. W.H. Harward in a steam cotton-gin which they operated for over 15 years in connection with other interests. In 1880, he clerked in the general store of W. H. Harward with whom he formed a partnership in 1881 under the firm name of Harward & Hunter to do a general mercantile and supply business.

He established a tobacco market for Apex and aided in establishing the Merchants and Farmers Bank of which he is now a director and vice president.

He took an active part in establishing the Apex Knitting Mills of which is is a director. He is also a director and president of the Apex Insurance and Realty Co.

For many years Mr. Hunter has been interested in his personal farming operations which he has conducted with success and profit. He has erected about a dozen houses in the northern part of town, to aid in housing the rapidly growing population of Apex.

Mr. Hunter has served several times as alderman of the town, and was mayor of Apex at one time. He served in the 1903 state legislature.

J.B. Mason

A write-up of the progress of Apex, no matter how brief, would not be complete unless mention of Mr. J.B. Mason was made. When the town was in its infancy and was needing outside financial aid, J.B. Mason, seeing the great future for Apex, came down from the city of Durham and with the aid of the Olives and others, organized the first bank for our town.

He is cashier of the powerful Citizens Bank of Durham, president of the Little River Manufacturing Company, vice president and treasurer of the Commonwealth Cotton Manufacturing Company, vice president of the Durham Lumber Company, member of the Board of Aldermen of the city of Durham for eight years.

His work in Apex will always be felt, and his large interests in our town makes him the same as if he were one of our citizens.

Valuable Work

Mrs. A.C. Hunter tells of the many good things done by the Woman's Betterment Association and what it hopes to do.

The Woman's Betterment Association was organized about four years ago, but the past year has been our most successful one in many ways.

The association has obligated itself to look after the Apex Graded School building and grounds and keep same in a sanitary condition. We have spent over $25 for window shades to protect the children's eyes; had the floors oiled to keep down the dust and germs to protect their throats; pay a janitor to make fires early in the morning and to clean the building before the children get there to keep them from having to do it. This costs us $40 each year. We had a stage built in the chapel for about $15; a partition built in the large room up stairs at the cost of $30; paid $6 for lamps; $5 for a nice globe.

Out on the grounds, we had the well cleaned out, a new cover made for the well with a lock and key to prevent the little children from falling in the well, and also placed several buckets and dippers at the well for some of the large boys to keep filled for their use. (We hope that each child will furnish their own cup as this will prevent many diseases.) We bought 20 shade trees at the cost of $10, and a nice $300 piano that is rent free for each child to practice on.

We are going to furnish an office and library in the next week or two for the use of the school and have some where for visitors to rest and amuse themselves.

The New Hotel

Apex is peculiarly fortunate in having erected here just in conjunction with the new impetus of growth and development of the town a hotel that will fully meet these important requirements: proximity to the railway depot and to the business center of town; adequate space accommodation and sufficient service to commend the establishment to the further patronage of the people.

The new hotel, that will be opened in a few days, is situated just above the Apex Mule and Supply Company on Salem Street. The building will be a large convenient and inviting structure. There will be at least 20 commodious rooms and additions will be made when the patronage increases sufficiently to necessitate that course. The handsome new rooms will be elegantly furnished with the best and most serviceable High Point furniture; the halls and compartments will be well lighted and heated; the hotel service will be the best to be had.

News Items

The following items of local interest were also included in the Sept. 15 edition.

Mr. J.W. Jenks has disposed of his valuable Jersey cow. The cow gave five gallons of rich milk daily.

She was sold to Dr. James R. Rogers, the purchase price being $100.

A family of Pennsylvanians passed through town Tuesday on wagons making their way to Florida for the winter. They presented an interesting spectacle.

Mr. W.H. Luther of Oveda, Fla., who left Apex several years ago, and now owns a considerable number of valuable orange groves in Florida, has been visiting his relatives near Apex for several days.

Mr. L.J. Sears attended the meeting of the Wake County Board of Education in Raleigh last week. Mr. Sears is chairman of the board.

Mr. Alfred J. Fletcher, who recently secured his license from the Supreme Court to practice law, left Monday in search for a suitable location.

Mr. Edward L. Beasley, who recently underwent an operation for appendicitis in the Rex Hospital, returned home Monday afternoon much improved. He was detained in the hospital for three weeks.

Mr. W.W. Pegram of Vaughn, a prospective citizen of Apex, was here Wednesday looking over the town. He expressed himself as being thoroughly impressed with the growth and development of Apex, and will in likelihood enter the mercantile business here in the near future.

1911 Industrial Edition 'saved' by first mayor's granddaughter

In response to many requests to include some history of Apex in this special edition, we are pleased to be able to include these excerpts from the Sept. 15, 1911 Industrial Edition of the Apex Journal.

The information was not taken, however, from an original copy of that paper but from a typewritten copy prepared in 1963 by Apex native Anne Lydia Olive.

She said she found the paper in a trunk at her home.

"It was falling to pieces then," she said in a recent phone interview from her home in Raleigh. "It was already about 50 years old."

Olive said she decided to type the stories and ads from the edition to keep from losing them. She also had the paper laminated to preserve it. After awhile, when the laminated copy became "awkward to have around," she gave it to the state archives.

"But now people say it's disappeared from there," she said.

Olive prepared two typed editions of the Industrial Edition and made several copies from each that she distributed to friends and family members.

"I gave one to the Apex library but people tell me that's gone too," she said.

But Olive said she is glad she made the effort.

"I think it's just one of the most interesting little histories of this town," she said. "It really gives a good picture of what Apex was like at the time."

She notes that the edition doesn't include everything about the town; as an industrial edition it is devoted mainly to those businesses that advertised.

Olive, who moved to Raleigh when she was 9 years old, is the granddaughter of Apex's first mayor, H.C. Olive. A proponent of education, he served for several years as chairman of the Wake County Board of Education. He also served in the state Senate and was a state leader in the Baptist Church. He also founded the H.C. Olive Company, a mercantile business.

H.C. Olive died in 1898 and his three sons took over the company. Anne Lydia Olive's father, Percy Olive, served as president of the company.

One may stand on Salem Street any rainy day and see the water flow off one side on its way to the Cape Fear River and on the other side see the waters pursuing their way in an opposite direction to Neuse River.

Mr. W.W. Pegram of Vaughn, a prospective citizen of Apex, was here Wednesday looking over the town. He expressed himself as being thoroughly impressed with the growth and development of Apex, and will in likelihood enter the mercantile business here in the near future.

The sheet turned out to have 5 components the top of some possibly not copied by Ann when she made the copy. The COMPONENTS:

no matter how brief, would not be complete unless mention of Mr. J. B. Mason was made. When the town was in its infancy and was needing outside financial aid, J. B. Mason, seeing the great future for Apex, came down from the live city of Durham and with the aid of the Olives and others, organized the first bank for our town. He had to work hard to accomplish his desires, but with indomitable courage and a firm belief in Apex's future, he succeeded. Since that time, when he first began to aid in the development of what was only a spot on the map of Wake County, he has been considered one of the real benefactors of the town.

While Mr. Mason is not a resident of our town, we feel that because he has done so much to help us get our footing that we should briefly tell who he is.

J. B. Mason was born in Chapel Hill some forty-five (this is guesswork) years ago. He rapidly developed into one of the State's leading financiers, until to-day we find him connected with some of the largest business houses of Durham and other counties.

He is cashier of the powerful Citizens Bank of Durham; president of the Little River Manufacturing Company; vice-president and treasurer of the Commonwealth Cotton Manufacturing Company; vice-president of the Durham Lumber Company; member of the Board of Aldermen of the city of Durham for eight years, and holds other important positions.

Mr. Mason has always been identified with the industrial growth of Durham, of which city he has been a resident for twenty-four years.

Zebulon camp leads fight for Confederate cemetery funds

By MATT SHAW

Gold Leaf Farmer Editor

Summer 1863. The army of the Confederate States of America followed the Shenandoah Valley through Virginia, pushing up into Pennsylvania. There, they were met by Union troops near the town of Gettysburg.

Among their number was Henry King Burgwyn Jr., the "Boy Colonel." Two years earlier, Burgwyn had been ranked first in his class at Virginia Military Institute and headed to a promising military career. Those plans changed when the Southern states formed the CSA. He entered the Confederate army as a captain and, within months, had been named a lieutenant colonel and placed in command of the 26th North Carolina Regiment.

Now a full colonel, Burgwyn led his troops in an assault on Gen. Solomon Meredith's "Iron Brigade" during the first day of the Battle of Gettysburg. In less than an hour of fighting, 584 of the 800 North Carolinians were killed or wounded. Burgwyn was trying to advance the battle flag when he was struck in the side, the shot passing through both lungs. As ambulance corps workers tended him, Burgwyn reportedly told them, "I know my gallant regiment will do their duty — where is my sword?" He then died. He was 21 years old.

Pvt. Miles Mason was 33. Second Lt. William W. Boggan was 21. Sgt. Charles A. Watkins was 19. North Carolinians all, they died at Gettysburg, as did 20,000 Confederate troops. Some men had enlisted, some had been drafted. Some had come from families that owned slaves, but most had not.

Summer 1995. A group of eastern Wake residents has taken the role of flag bearer in a struggle to protect the memory of those North Carolinian casualties.

The Wendell-Zebulon Sons of Confederate Veterans, Col. Henry King Burgwyn Jr. Camp No. 1485, is lobbying the N.C. General Assembly to put money in the state budget to keep up the cemetery where these troops are buried.

Located in, but separate from, Oakwood Cemetery in Raleigh, the Confederate Cemetery is the resting place for around 1,400 men. Troops from every county in North Carolina are there. Some died at Gettysburg; others fell trying to repel Sherman's troops at Bentonville; still others survived the war and into the 1920s.

The General Assembly helped found the cemetery in 1867 and, beginning in 1919, gave $250 a year — later increased to $350 a year — for upkeep. Three years ago, though, the state eliminated funding. Officials justified the action by saying it cost the state more to write the check than the check was worth.

"It had the flavor of spite," said Dennis Kidwell of Knightdale, an officer in the Burgwyn camp. "They seemed to be saying 'We're going to stamp out Southern history every chance we get.'"

"I can write a check for about 25 cents," added Tom Smith, the camp's commander.

Smith and Kidwell spoke with me last Friday during a break in the lobbying effort to get funding restored to the cemetery. The Sons of Confederate Veterans are seeking to get $5,000 set aside each year for the cemetery's upkeep.

The local camp has been involved with the cemetery since 1989. At that time, the cemetery had been neglected for several years, Smith said. Overgrown trees had cut off light to much of the cemetery. Fallen leaves and limbs had been allowed to lay. As a result, much of the grass had died out and erosion had left some graves, which had been dug shallowly anyway, about a foot or so below the surface.

The cemetery was also a haven for drug addicts, Smith said.

Although there had been the annual allotment for upkeep, the United Daughters of the Confederacy, the cemetery's owners, had traditionally saved the money for a few years and taken care of bigger projects, such as cleaning the House of Memories, a structure bearing plaques honoring the dead of all major U.S. wars, Smith said. It wasn't enough money to effectively tend the cemetery on a regular basis.

Over the past six years, the 80 members of the Burgwyn camp have spearheaded an effort by the five camps in Wake County to fix up the cemetery. They have expended thousands of hours, mostly on physical labor but also time spent doing research, connecting names to grave markers, Smith said. They've petitioned the U.S. Department of Veterans Affairs for tombstones for the graveyard, then placed the 235-pound stones as they arrived.

"The Sons of Confederate Veterans has worked our butts off," Smith said.

Still, their efforts have gotten the cemetery only so far, and everything that has been accomplished could be lost to neglect, he added.

"We're not concerned about getting the grass mowed next week," he said. "We're concerned about getting the grass cut after we're gone."

The $5,000 amount would be "a token amount" in the state Department of Cultural Resources' $43 million annual budget, Smith explained, but it would be a start.

The main obstacle to the budget amendment has been N.C. Rep. Sam Ellis of Garner, who represents Knightdale and part of Wendell. Ellis has described the cemetery as "a pork project."

"I agree with Sam in his efforts to curb pork spending," Smith said. However, the Confederate Cemetery is not an example of frivolous spending, he argued; it is a fulfillment of the state's obligation to its veterans, many of whom were pressed into service.

"Is veterans affairs pork? Is Arlington National Cemetery pork?" Smith said. "This is definitely not a pork project."

Ellis' strong stand on the issue, though, has made other legislators unwilling to sponsor a bill to reinstate the spending, Smith said. He will keep trying, though.

"I'm going to keep knocking on doors," Smith said.

Murlene Faye was born March 1, 1959. She was the daughter of Harold Mason and Bonnie Cooper. She was born in Albany, KY.

As a child she lived in Pineywoods, KY. Her dad owned a farm. Every morning she was up bright and early ready to go milk the cows. She had two sisters and one brother. They all worked very hard. They walked to school every morning which was about 2 miles.

At the age of 18 she married David Parrigin, the son of William Howard Parrigin and Mary Alice Cooper. He had three brothers and two sisters.

At the age of 19, Murlene and David's first child was born, Tonya Faye. She weighed 7 pounds and 7½ ounces. She had blonde hair and bright clear blue eyes.

In 1975, March 1st, they had another child. He weighed 6 pounds. On March 3rd, he suddenly died. The doctors did not know what caused this tragedy.

In October, 1976, another boy weighed in at 10 pounds. This was Michael.

Murlene worked in a shirt factory for 9 years making a living. David worked at a Boot Factory. Later he started working nights and they spent less time with their children. They finally noticed this and she quit the shirt factory for a little while.

David got laid off and Murlene went back to work.

By the time Tonya was in the fifth grade, they started having marital problems. They got a divorce. Tonya and Michael were given to the custody of their father, and for a few months they never heard from her. Only a few months after she contacted them again, she got killed, June 7, 1985. There is still the hurt for the loss of a friend, as well as a mother I will never forget.

Guy + Eaton are William Upchurch, etc. - Guy Upchurch [L. S.]

that William U, the illegitimate Richard S. Mason [L. S.]

○ Items re the Estate of George Cowan Strathairn - in the 12 Sept 2007 Wiley Robert Perry to RPU - attached. Amplification below given to RPU in phone call on 22 SEP 2007 [Estate Papers in profile of George Cowan Strathairn]

△ George Cowan Strathairn had a sister △ Mason (Strathairn) Smith who was deceased prior to the death of George. Two two of her sons were mentioned in George's Estate Papers

- △ Mason Strathairn Smith (nd)
- △ Stagwood Smith.

The name of △ Robert J. Mason appeared in the paperwork based on these circumstances: After George built a new small brick home the older home in which he & Clyde had lived burned. George replaced it with a 2-unit structure - one of which was rented by Robert J. Mason. George promised to sell the 2-unit structure to Robert. Robert sensed that Robert J. Foster was scheming to get George's assets so executed a preemptive strike & got George to sign the house over to him while he was still alive.

All of George's relatives & friends knew George wanted his assets to go to Inwood Church. The will to this effect never surfaced. The one sentence will Robert J. Foster convinced to sign was an underhanded move.

Somewhat, the legitimate heirs of George Cowan Strathairn were not granted standing in the court as the Trustees of Inwood Church declined to intervene. Robert J. Foster was also an Inwood Trustee. It appears RJP got his hands on assets before the will came about.

She is mentioned in the probate record of John Utley as a granddaughter. However, in this same record, there is a guardianship for her which lists her as the orphan of Jonathon Utley. Guardianship was given in Jackson, Madison, Tennessee to Mr. Rufus M. Mason . The confusion being that as Jonathon's daughter, she could not very well have been John's granddaughter for John was not Jonathon's father. Also her age was given as 8 years in the papers which were dated 7 March 1859, making her much younger than the children of either John or Jonathon. |

○ The Apex Herald WED 15 FEB 1995 Apex, NC

Tuesday night, a week ago, several of our people visited Keller Nursing Home in Pittsboro. Miss Tula Mason of our community is a resident there. We had a short devotional period and visited with many of the residents. While there we learned Mr. Ralph Booth of the New Hill community was also a resident and visited with him briefly. Visits are appreciated by all of us, however people in places like rest homes seem to enjoy our time with them even more. As usual, we were the ones who received the greatest blessings.

DETAILS RE CO "I"

MASON, William A. Private

Born in Orange County and enlisted in Wake County at age 28, 28 May 1861, for the war. Died at Raleigh on 29 August 1861, of "dyspepsia."

The company, known as "Cedar Forks Rifles," was from Wake and Chatham Counties and enlisted in Wake County on 28 May 1861. It went into the camp of instruction near Company Shops (Burlington), Alamance County, 1 June 1861, and was assigned to this regiment [Sixth Regiment] as Company I.
After joining the regiment, the company functioned as a part of the regiment, and its history for the war period is recorded as a part of the regimental history.

The information contained in the following roster of the company was compiled principally from company muster rolls for 20 June 1861, through February 1864, and 15 September through December 1864. No company muster rolls were found for the period prior to 20 June 1861; for March through 14 September 1864; or for the period after December 1864. In addition to the company muster rolls, Roll of Honor records, receipt rolls, hospital records, prisoner of war records, and other primary records, supplemented by state pension applications, United Daughters of the Confederacy records, and postwar rosters and histories, all provided useful information.

A section on fraternal orders describes several most if not all of which appear to be MASON LODGES, of which the following is presumed to be one:

George Washington Lodge No. 174

George Washington Lodge No. 174, located at Lassiter's Crossroads, was chartered December 5, 1855. William C. Mason was master; J. Broodwell, senior warden; M. C. Lewter, junior warden; Hinton Hudson, secretary; Sims Upchurch, treasurer; William Womble, senior deacon; Joseph Bell, junior deacon; and A. Barbee, tyler.

Dues for the year 1858 were one dollar per member and 75 members are listed in the lodge minute book.

The cornerstone of the lodge was laid by Columbus Lodge No. 102 on September 29, 1859.

In 1882 the lodge moved to Bell's Crossroads and on July 24, 1908, S. M. Baldwin sold the lodge a lot located behind the present Bell's Baptist Church where the lodge now stands.

With the coming of the New Hope Dam the members of George Washington Lodge will be forced to move from the Bell's Community and the Lodge will probably unite with some nearby lodge.
