Smith, Whitman wed

Donna Lou Whitman of Zebulon and Scott Smith of Wake Forest were united in marriage March 30 at Oak Grove Baptist Church. The double-ring ceremony was performed by the Rev. Jack Rose.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Whitman of Zebulon. Parents of the bridegroom are Onie Mae Ellington of Wake Forest and Charles Gregory Smith of Raleigh.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a floor-length white satin gown. The wedding band collar was appliqued in schiffli lace with pearls. Just under the collar was a motif of lace with hanging pearls ending with tear-drop pearls.

The bodice featured English netting which came to a sweetheart neckline beaded with lace and sequins. The Renaissance sleeves came to a point on the hand and had an insert of netting at the shoulders with lace and pearl overlays. The full skirt was edged in schiffli lace and extended to a chapel-length train.

The bride chose a wide-brimmed satin hat accented with a spray of silk flowers on one side for her headpiece. Around the base of the hat was a band of pearls and the top had clusters of faux pearls. The fingertip-length veil featured a pouf at the back of the hat and was enhanced with a pencil-edged hem.

She was attended by her sister, Linda Brannan. Bridesmaids were Becky Estes, the bride's sister, and Merle Perry.

Each attendant wore a floor-length satin amethyst dress. The bodice featured a Sabrina neckline in front and came to a V-shape in back. The sleeves were elbow length. Attached to the straight skirt was a peplum in front that tapered to a long peplum in the back.

Christopher Brannan served as the ring bearer and Tracy Pearce was the flower girl.

The bridegroom wore a white tuxedo. His groomsmen and best man wore smoke-gray tuxedos with gray cummerbunds and ties.

The bridegroom chose his father to be his best man. Ushers were John Whitman Jr. and Rudolph Bunn.

Wedding music was presented by JoAnn Mitchell and organist Dorothy Rose.

Sandy Borrell of Roanoke Rapids directed the wedding.

The bride is a graduate of Southern Christian Academy. She is a payee at Tom Togs of Youngsville. Her husband is a graduate of Wake Forest and is also employed by Tom Togs of Youngsville.

The couple will make their home in Wake Forest.
